MAN BEATEN AND ROBBED AT HOME

Masked Robbers Blackjack Jacob Kooker, of Aquetong, Bucks County—Enter His House in Early Evening — Family Terrorized—Small Booty Secured.

In wild west style, two masked burglars last Monday night held up Jacob Kooker, a prominent farmer living at Aquetong, on Old York road, in Solebury township, Bucks county, severely beating him with a blackjack and robbed his house.

When the masked men entered Mr. Kooker thought it was some one trying to scare him by a practical joke, but one of the intruders sprang at Kooker and grappled with him. In the scuffle the pair fell through a cellar door and down the stairs. The second burglar came to his companion's aid and beat Kooker insensible with a blackjack. Evidently with compassion for their victim, the burglars carried the bleeding farmer back again into the dining room. Here they revived him and then compelled a terrified house maid to secure warm water and towels for them. They carefully washed the blood from Kooker's gashed scalp and face and cleaned their own hands and clothing.

Mrs. Kooker, who was sick in the room adjoining that in which her husband was assaulted, was compelled to get out of bed and join the group. The housemaid was also rounded up. While one of the masked men kept watch over the occupants with drawn revolvers, the other ransacked the house. They secured about $3 in money.

When the robbers left they took with them Mr. Kooker's shot gun which was found next morning a short distance from the scene of the robbery. The man who stood guard over the women warned them not to make an outcry, as they had more help on the outside, and the women were compelled to keep silent.

Mrs. Kooker, who has been an invalid for some time, suffered very greatly from shock, and it is said that her condition is critical.

Mr. Kooker had deposited a considerable sum of money in the bank during the afternoon, and it is believed the burglars were after this. The robbery was committed while the farm hand employed by Kooker was making a trip to the post office in the little country store in the village. There appears to be absolutely no clue to the identity of the masked men.

Although a portion of Mr. Kooker's scalp was pounded to a pulp by the blows from the blackjack wielded by his assailant, he will recover. He is under the care of Dr. W. S. Erdman.

The assault has created great talk throughout that section and strong efforts are being made to trace the robbers.

OBITUARY

REV. J. H. HARPSTER.

The Rev. John Henry Harpster, D. D., former director of missions in India under the General Council of the Lutheran Church of America, died Wednesday morning at 2 o'clock at the residence of his brother-in-law, Dr. Henry E. Jacobs, dean of the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Mt. Airy. He was taken ill with grip on Friday and rapidly became weaker until late Tuesday night, when his condition became critical. Mrs. Harpster, his only survivor, was at the bedside when Dr. Harpster died.

WILLOW GROVE

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Willow Grove Improvement Association was held at the club house on last Friday evening with a good attendance. The following nominations were made: President, George W. Quigley, Dr. Franklin Watson, Wilford L. Kentner, J. Irs. Fisher, Harry Kates and J. Dyre Moyer; vice president, P. P. Gheen, John McEvoy, William Penrose and Harry Erwin; secretary, J. Dyre Moyer, Stephen L. Smith and Charles A. Schlachter; treasurer, Eugene Rothwell. The next stated meeting of the association will be held on next Thursday evening at the club house, when election of officers will be conducted and adoption of by-laws. It is requested that all our citizens, who are interested in the advancement of our town, should attend.

Rothwell's drug sore is displaying a fine line of valentines.

Moore Krier, Jr., is very sick at his home on Grove avenue.

Joseph Richards is seriously ill at his home with pneumonia.

Cornelius L. Corson has been laid up with a blood tumor on his leg.

Amos Foster, who resides on Edge Hill road, is down sick with typhoid fever.

George Hallowell, of Hallowell, a former resident of the Grove, was visiting friends here on Tuesday.

Harvey Green, our expressman, has added a new wagon for his business purposes.

Philip Robbins, employed on the Frazier farm, is confined to his home by illness.

J. Dyre Moyer will furnish the lumber for Rothwell's new building on York road.

Miss Nellie Glanz, of Philadelphia, was the guest of Miss Ethel Schimpf, on Sunday last.

Jesse, son of Joseph Richards, has been confined to his home this week with the grip.

Tom Logan has moved from Lee avenue into one of Frank Nash's new houses on Centre avenue.

Several from the village attended the funeral of Albert Maxwell, at Hatboro, on Thursday afternoon.

Norman Fleetwood has moved from Bridgeville, Delaware, to one of J. Irs Fisher's houses on Church street.

George Bush and wife, of Philadelphia, were entertained at the home of Frank Schimpf and wife, on Sunday last.

Evan Hamilton has moved from William Raisner's house on Church street, into part of M. L. Eavenson's residence on York road.

The relief committee of the Red Men Lodge have been very busy this week looking after their sick brethren. They report having six on their list.

Albert Mahan, Harvey Denninson and Raymond Crawford visited the Odd Fellows' Orphanage in Tioga on Sunday. They report the children of the late Elwood Terry, who are inmates there, are doing nicely and are well.

Harman Y. Bready, while returning from Philadelphia with a load of grain on Wednesday, had the misfortune to have the axle of his wagon to break in half opposite the Hunting Park, on York road. After a delay of an hour, in which he secured a new wagon, he proceeded on his way home.

The Willow Grove fire company will hold a supper and bazaar in March, and earnestly request the co-operation of the ladies of this vicinity to help make it a success. The committee in charge is Wilford L. Kentner, William Harris, James Slugg, George Fleck and Harvey Denninson. A meeting will be held this Friday evening at the club house when arrangements will be made for the same.

Jan Koert, the noted Dutch violinist, died at Atlantic City last Wednesday night of a complication of diseases from which he had suffered for three years. Koert was fifty-seven years of age. He was for many years a member of the Philadelphia Orchestra. He was concert master for Walter Damrosch for ten years and held similar positions in Europe. He is well remembered by Willow Grove Park audiences, for his rendition of Largo, which was always popular.

Health Officer J. Irs Fisher received notice on Thursday that an epidemic of measles was prevailing at Woodhill school, at Woodmont. The building will be fumigated at once. On Thursday afternoon Mr. Fisher made an investigation on the scarlet fever epidemic existing in the vicinity of Prospectville, in Horsham township, under the direction of the State board officials. The schools in Horsham and Moreland township are under Mr. Fisher's supervision.

MOTOR CAR ACCIDENT FATAL.

Stuart Freeman, a mechanical engineer, of 2840 N. 24th street, Philadelphia, died Thursday in the Charity hospital, Norristown, from a fractured skull, which he sustained on Sunday, when his automobile skidded into a tree. Coroner King says no one is to blame for the accident. Freeman is survived by a wife and son.

The Ambler Lutheran church will be united with the St. James Lutheran church of Chalfont, Bucks county, and both churches will be supplied by the same pastor.

ABINGTON.

POLICE NEWS

A quick arrest was made by the Abington police on Tuesday. It was nine o'clock when Chief Lever received a notice that the home of Walter Dewey, a Philadelphia business man, living on Lynwood avenue, Glenside, had been robbed of five bottles of high grade whiskey. Officer Messer was detailed on the case and learned that the entry had been made by breaking the glass from a cellar window, undoing the catch. He also learned that in December Aaron Lucas, a colored man, of Edge Hill, had been working in that cellar, where there had been some whiskey, and that a bottle had been emptied and filled with water. With this clue to work upon Chief Lever and Officer Messer landed the thief and had the five bottles, two of them full, two of them partly empty and one entirely empty, at the police station shortly after four o'clock. At the hearing before Squire Lachot, Tuesday evening, Lucas was held without bail for a further hearing on Friday night, as an attempt would be made to learn how Lucas came into possession of two cans of fruit, one labeled "Paradise Island Brand Pineapple" and the other "Ora Brand Lemon Sliced Peaches." The man Lucas said he purchased these of claimed to have never dealt in fruits of the above name, and it is the suspicion of the police that they have been taken from some one's cellar.

SMOKER AT ABINGTON.

Henry Seybert Council, No. 520, Jr. Order United American Mechanics, of Abington, held a smoker in connection with the regular meeting in the council chamber on Monday evening, January 30. A very large attendance participated. The affair was a pronounced success and only a few cigars of the ten boxes procured by the trustees were left unsmoked. Many were present who have been connected with the order since it was chartered and their remarks were listened to with great appreciation. During the evening the secretary read the report of the auditors at the end of the last term, which was very encouraging. The trustees were instructed to invest some of the surplus in building association stock. It was agreed to give a prize to the member bringing in the largest number of members during the next six months and to present to the retiring councilors a past councilors jewel. Increase of benefits was another subject talked of, the present benefits being five dollars a week for the first year and four dollars thereafter, the increase talked of being to six dollars a week for the first six months, five dollars for the second six months and four dollars thereafter. The annual banquet will be held some time in February, for which the trustees expect to procure some good talent to amuse the members while they are enjoying the spread. Henry Seybert Council is in a very flourishing condition financially. It was instituted twenty-two years ago, at which time there was a council located at Jenkintown and one at Ogontz, each of which became defunct some years ago. While Henry Seybert, through judicious management of its affairs by its officers, has accumulated over $5000, and have the hall, which is one of the old landmarks of Abington, clear of incumberance. The trustees have bought two large flags, one for Willow Grove Heights school and one for Abington High school. At a late hour council adjourned, every one voted having had an excellent time. P. C. B.

Mrs. Harry Morris, of Woodland road, is critically ill.

Mrs. John Scheetz is seriously ill at her home on Susquehanna road.

Albert Mayhew has a fine new horse to his delivery wagon.

Miss Betty Kruger is out after being confined to her home for several days by the grip.

Miss Amy Hartman, of Glenside, has been the guest several days this week of Miss Ethel Boutcher.

The girls' basket ball team of Abington high school will play the girls of the alumni this Friday. Next Friday they will journey to Hatboro for a game.

The boys' basket ball team was defeated on Friday last at Hatboro in a score of 29 to 12. Next Friday our club expects to play Abington Friends' school.

Miss Paxson, late of Abington, bequeaths $300 each to her brother, Moore S. Paxson, of Winston Junction, Wis., and to her brother, Joseph L. Paxson, of Jenkintown. The residue of her estate is to go to her sister, Harriet L. Paxson, who is named as executrix.

OGONTZ AND ASHBOURNE.

POLICE NEWS.

Chief Lindsay has made himself a very pretty shield which adorns the front of his new office at the township building. It contains two police clubs, crossed, with handcuffs, revolver, police whistle and twisters, with a blackjack in the middle.

William Smith, alias John Pitts, was arrested by Officer Ganley on Saturday in Elkins Park. At the hearing before Justice Comly, he was given thirty days in the county jail for vagrancy.

Dominic Catorza was arrested by Officer Young at Edge Hill, on Monday, charged with assault and battery. At the hearing before Justice Comly, Angeline Romeo, of Edge Hill, testified that the prisoner, her nephew, threatened her with a razor. He was fined $10 and costs.

Frank Peterson, of Philadelphia, was arrested on Monday by Officer Ganley, in Elkins Park, where he had alighted from a freight train. As he told a straight story to Chief Lindsay, he was allowed to proceed to his home.

Officer Charlton, of Wyncote, resigned, taking effect on the 31st of January, and Officer Caul, of Glenside, was apointed to fill the vacancy.

The police are being drilled in the firing of revolvers in the basement of the township building. Treasurer Harry Murphey has presented the police department with a piece of armor plate four feet square on which there is a bull's eye, and the police have a range of 36 feet.

C. C. Ferguson, of Ashbourne, has returned from a business trip to Scranton.

C. F. McEwen took charge of the Union news stand at Elkins station on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nelson of Park avenue, are spending a few weeks at Pinehurst, N. C.

L. A. Nagle narrowly escaped serious injuries on Monday afternoon last, when a tree was blown down on the Cedar road, and directly in front of his automobile, breaking the lamps and otherwise damaging his car.

ELUDE PARENTS TO MARRY

Miss Anita Blum and R. M. Slotter are Secretly Wedded.

Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Blum, of Ogontz, on Thursday announced the marriage of their daughter Miss Anita Blum, and Raymond M. Slotter. The marriage, which took place Wednesday, was solemnized without the knowledge of the bride's parents, whose objection was based largely upon the youth of the couple.

Mr. Slotter, who is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, is an assistant to Doctor Cleveland in the Bureau of Municipal Research. He is widely known in college circles, being a member of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity and of the Mask and Wig Club.

Mrs. Frank M. Acton, of Harrison avenue, Elkins Park, entertained a Bridge party in honor of Mrs. William H. Fretz, of Jenkintown, on Tuesday afternoon. The favors were awarded to Mrs. Robert Fell, Mrs. J. Howard Ervien and Mrs. Herbert Taylor.

The bowling tournament on Tuesday night at the Old York Road Fire Company brought out a good attendance. Prizes were awarded as follows: Mrs. Edward Hickman, cut glass dish; Mrs. R. S. Craven, cut glass dish; Mrs. Harry Hay, jewel box. Men's prizes, first, umbrella, William Hartzell; second, box of fine cigars, Edwin Linson; third, watch, Robert Craven.

Unless there is protest against the petition asking the court to divide the election district of Ashbourne into two parts, before the tenth of this month, at Norristown, it is the opinion of many that the district will be divided. There are now over 600 voters in the present Ashbourne district. By the new division it is proposed that the lower district, to be known as the Melrose district, will have their polling place at Jackson's real estate office, while the upper district, to be known as Elkins Park district, will have their polling place at the Old York Road Fire Company house. At present there is only one polling place, which is in Ashbourne. There are a number of persons who are opposed to the division as well as those in favor of it.

BRAVE BOY AND GIRL SAVE COMRADE

Twelve-year-old Harold Herrman Broke Through Thin Ice—Marion Fenton, Aged 12 and Howard Fenton, Aged 11, Rescued Drowning Boy—Near Fox Chase.

What might have been a drowning accident was averted by the presence of mind of two school children at Harper's dam, near Fox Chase, on Monday. Harold Herrman, 12 years old, and Howard Fenton, aged 11, were sliding on the ice, which is very thick on the greater part of the dam. Near the middle, however, is a space from which the ice has been cut recently and which is covered with a thin coat of ice. Harold ventured out on the thin ice, which broke and he fell into the water, which at this point is about ten feet deep. Howard went to his friend's assistance, but owing to the thinness of the ice, could not get near him. Their cries were heard by Marian Fenton, aged 12, a sister of Howard, who was also on her way home from school. She ran to their assistance. By her advice, Howard lay down on the thin ice. She took firm hold of his feet and between the two they succeeded in getting Harold on firm ice. His fingers were numbed with the cold, as the ice had broken with his repeated attempts to get out, and as he had swallowed considerable water, it would have been only a matter of a few minutes before he would have been beyond human recall.

There is much praise for the rescuers in the Fox Chase neighborhood, and talk of calling their feat to the attention of the Carnegie Hero Fund managers.

NEW STATION FOR AMBLER.

Reading Railway to Put Up Depot Costing $15,000.

Ambler is to have a new railroad station, it is said. The Reading Railway has approved plans, it is understood, for a $15,000 depot to be erected there.

It is probable that work on the new station, which was made necessary by the growth of the town, will be begun in the spring.

THIEVES USED WAGON.

When the caretaker of a number of country seats on South Main street, North Wales, Joel Supplee, made his rounds on Tuesday morning he found the doors of the colonial residence of Andrew J. Tyson open. On investigating he found that the house had been ransacked by burglars, evidently with a team, during the night. As Mr. Tyson is away traveling and Mrs. Tyson is living in apartments in Philadelphia, it is not known how much has been taken, but all the valuable rugs, bric-a-brac apparently had been carted away. The house was found in turmoil, and the robbers, no doubt, took time to gather together anything worth hauling away and not too cumbersome. A few nights previous an attempt was also made to rob the home of Mrs. Tatnal Rawling, on the opposite side of the street, but the would-be burglars were scared off without taking anything, so far as is known.

MET FIANCE IN LUMBER CAMP

Montgomery County Girl Married to Westerner After Romantic Courtship.

A romance which had its inception in a lumber camp at Del Norto, Col., culminated in a marriage ceremony at the Lower Providence Presbyterian manse, five miles from Norristown, Wednesday, when Mabel W. Sheppard, daughter of the Rev. Daniel Sheppard, became the bride of Johnson Barmouth, a lumber merchant, of Colorado. Her father performed the ceremony. Miss Sheppard met Barmouth while teaching school at Del Norto.

$55,000 FOR HOTEL

Monument House, Doylestown, Sold to Alexander Hipson.

George W. Ott, proprietor of the Monument House, Doylestown, has sold the well-known hotel to Alexander Hipson, of Atlantic City, who will take possession on February 27th. The price was not given out, but rumor says it was in the neighborhood of $55,000.

The deal was consummated on Wednesday night. The new proprietor was at one time owner of the Hotel Wyndham, at Ambler, but has recently been associated with his son in the management of a hotel in Philadelphia. Mr. Hipson, who is a man about 55 years old, has had considerable experience in managing hotels and intends to make the Monument House one of the best hotels in the State. He will begin shortly after taking control to make extensive improvements, among which will be the building of a new kitchen, it is said, and great changes to the interior.

As the Board of Education of Lower Merion Township is erecting a $200,000 high school building in Ardmore, but has made no provision for an athletic field, the students of the school are circulating petitions to be presented to the Board.

JENKINTOWN

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

While passing the Rexford jewelry store building, at 936 Market street, on Monday, Miss LaReine Washington narrowly escaped death when a large sign fourteen feet high and twenty feet long, which was extended along the top of a four-story building, was torn loose from its fastenings by the wind, and crashed down upon the heads of the pedestrians below. The sign passed Miss Washington by the fraction of a few inches, but caught about a dozen people, killing four and injuring eight.

Horace G. Reeder, agent for the heirs of the late Hon. Edward M. Paxson, has sold the four dwellings on Centre avenue, in Newtown borough to Laura W. White, of Newtown, on private terms. Possession to be given April 1st next. Miss White has arranged for the sale of the two eastern houses.

Contractor Lewis Treffinger has been awarded the contract to remodel Dr. Joseph R. Swartzlander's property at the corner of Main street and Oakland avenue, Doylestown. Dr. Swartzlander will make extensive alterations, building a two-story addition to the Oakland avenue side, besides great changes to the present structure.

CASH ONLY FOR MOTOR FEES

State Officials Will Not Take Checks for Licenses.

The Automobile Division of the Pennsylvania Highway Department, which handles all automobile licenses, gives notice that, owing to the order of the State Treasurer that only par funds would be received in payment of State accounts, no checks would be taken for automobile license fees after January 31.

NEW BRITAIN CHURCH MAY PASS INTO HISTORY.

Members of Other Sects Especially of the Jewish Religion are Buying the Neighborhood Lands.

The recent death of Mrs. Mary H. McConnell, of Doylestown township, has caused members and those interested in the Baptist church at New Britain to pause and consider the past, present and future of that old and historic church. Mrs. McConnell, recognized and looked up to as the oldest member of the church, having been admitted by letter in 1844, and Mrs. Caroline Conard, the seventh oldest member, having been baptized in 1859 by the Rev. Levi G. Beck at that time pastor, have both been laid at rest in the adjacent burying ground. Among others who have crossed the "Great Divide," the older members of the church in the past ten years, are Mrs. Susannah Haldeman, Mrs. Mary Haldeman, Mrs. Lizzie Rials, Deacon Robert Johnston, Mrs. Rachael Mathews, Lewis Gargee, Miss Miriam Mathews, Mrs. Anna Hoffman, Deacon George Irwin, Miss Emily Hoffman, Miss Maggie Rials, Mrs. Ellen Scott and Mrs. Caroline Mathews. They were the kind of members that make a church strong and fearless and honored among the community in which they lived, loving the truth and detesting to the point of hatred all crooked work.

Many have predicted that it will be only a short time before the Baptist church, of New Britain, will be a little struggling affair, fighting for existence, due not only to the passing beyond of the older and stauncher members, but also because of the inroads of people of other sects, more particularly the Hebrew denomination for they are purchasing farms all over Bucks county, especially in Doylestown township. At present they are slowly circling the road upon which the historic church stands. They practically own the great triangle bordered by the Upper State road, Lower State road and the Almshouse road. Age is hard on some things, but hope is expressed the time will never come when that old landmark of Christianity shall be destroyed.

Announcement was made Sunday morning at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Doylestown, by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Jefferis, that Andrew Carnegie had promised to contribute $750 towards the purchase price of the proposed new pipe organ which the congregation is arranging to install.

It's all right to learn to say no, but it has made many an old maid.

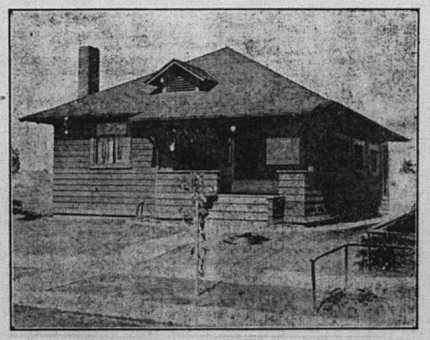
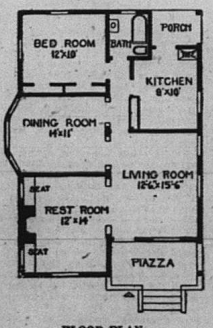
CHEAP AND ATTRACTIVE BUNGALOW,

Design 855, by Glenn L. Saxton, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.



PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.



FLOOR PLAN.

This design offers a convenient floor plan, combined with a very attractive though inexpensive exterior. The large room in front can be used at any time as a bedroom, thus making two bedrooms for this small house. The fireplace can be omitted if one chooses. There is a cellar under the rear part. All rooms are nine feet high in the clear. Birch floors and Washington fir finish throughout. Size, twenty-six feet wide and thirty-eight feet deep over all. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $1,578.

By special arrangement with me the editor of this paper will furnish one complete set of plans and specifications of design No. 855 for $13.

Broken Ties Reunited by Cupid's Magic Arts

By EMMA ARCHER OSBORNE

The mainland, with its legion of structures, lay white and glistening. The green gray waters were dotted with ice floes. The multitudinous ships, mazelike in their movements, were coated with frozen spray, and the patches of steam they sent up resembled great white feathers floating off to decorate the azure overhead. The harbor was never more splendid and fair in winter garb.

But De Forest had no eyes for any of this as he leaned against the ship's rail and indifferently counted off the quarter hours consumed by the great ocean liner in covering the distance from Sandy Hook up to her pier in the North river.

About all he noticed in the picturesqueness were a couple of gray and white ospreys gracefully soaring and dipping and winging their flight seaward. Side by side they flew for a distance. Then they separated, one turning toward the shore, the other continuing on, to be finally hidden in space.

"Idiots!" muttered De Forest disapprovingly as he watched them. "That is exactly what Elsie and I did, and whig—what a fool I was!"

It was the 14th of February, the anniversary of his engagement to Elise Ingalls and the date they had set for their wedding.

Only a year! And, despite vows of constancy each to the other and to the adopted saint of their happiness, here was he, returning from a very large queen of that year spent in dreary, lonely wanderings over Europe. And Elise—Elise—well, he supposed—he wasn't altogether certain about where she was. Proud and confident in their respective ways of looking at the matter, they had neither of them written and he had requested his family and Bruce not to mention her in their letters.

"In all probability she's in New York," he soliloquized. "She prefers to be home in the winter; so does Mrs. Williams."

Strange he should arrive on this of all days! He had not counted on it when he sailed from the other side. How the unforgotten and unforgettable months rose before him! How memory taunted him!

"What business had I to interfere between her and that rattle pated brother of hers?" he demanded of himself. "Good Lord! It was none of my affair. It was her own money, and she and I would have had a busy time of it in trying to use up my income! What if she was always helping him out of scrapes—what of it? I hadn't any sense, that's all; imagined because we were to be married that I must assume the dictatorial.

"I didn't intend to be domineering. Heavens! That was the last thing on earth I ever thought of doing. I merely didn't want her to be bothered about Billie's escapades.

"But I know well enough now that, while love is the essential thing to happiness, it isn't all. There's got to be common sense mixed in with it. While I am romantic to the last degree, she's practical. No; she wasn't cut out for the lap dog existence I was planning for her. There's too much of her father's temperament in her for that, and a good share of the old man's independence as well! Why the deuce didn't Billie Ingalls get hold of some of those traits of character?

"And the way she stuck to that young devil! But that was none of my business, and it served me right that she broke the engagement. I shouldn't have butted into family affairs. Well, I've learned my lesson, but at an awful cost!"

De Forest had sketched out no plans for his arrival other than to send a wireless to Dave Bruce to meet him—Bruce the infallible, his lifelong chum, dear old Bruce, and there he was now on the wharf! The sight of him gladdened De Forest. He sent out a boisterous shout across the intervening space between ship and wharf. Bruce answering with equal vigor and eloquent gestures of greeting. They kept up these affectionate signals intermittently throughout the slow process of docking; then as soon as De Forest could get down the gangplank they rushed at each other like a couple of stalwart bears, muffled as they were in fur coats, and hugged and pawed, commingling their lusty "hellos" with other welcomes all about them.

De Forest had firmly made up his mind not to mention Elise Ingalls, and a tingling realization that he was near her. He and Bruce had no sooner released each other than he looked steadily at Bruce and asked a thousand questions in the one word:

"Elise?"

Bruce made a wide detour of a pile of freight. "You'll have to attend to your luggage, I suppose," he suggested evasively.

"My man will see to that. He usually does, and there isn't anything to declare. Now, let's get uptown. Did you come down in your car?"

The apathetic manner which had clung to De Forest all the way across the Atlantic and up the bay was dropping from him. The sights and sounds of his native city seemed to be bringing him back to renewed interest in life.

"It is just outside—right here," answered Bruce. "I suppose you want to go straight out home. Your mother is overjoyed about your coming. You were a brute, Ed, to stay away from the dear old lady so long!"

"I know it," admitted De Forest. "It was a kind of madness that sent me away and kept me, I suppose. I've been like a half lunatic most of the time since. But you haven't answered me about Elsie."

"Oh, I guess her health is good," he replied vaguely. "It's a pity you went away, Ed. You—you might have—I really don't know, of course, but I believe if you had stayed you might have averted some of the disasters."

"Disasters! What on earth are you talking about?" demanded De Forest, his foot on the automobile step. "What has happened?"

"A whole lot—to them," replied Bruce dismally. "Haven't you heard?"

"Not a word about her since I left eight months ago. For God's sake, what is it, Bruce? Out with it! What's up? I'll wager that cub of a Billie is at the bottom of whatever it is!"

"At the bottom, all through and in at the death!" declared Bruce, with considerably more tragedy than he was in the habit of using. "Get into the car!" he exclaimed hurriedly as the notified De Forest turn pale.

"Whose dead?"

"Mrs. Williams died last month from the worry of it all, and Billie Ingalls has lit out, leaving Elsie alone and absolutely penniless. So Gordon, my lawyer, tells me."

De Forest sank back into the tonneau too overwhelmed to speak—not that he might not have anticipated something of this sort, for it was exactly what he had feared would occur sooner or later.

The Ingalls estate had been divided at the majority of Billie, the younger, and the two heirs were given free rein to handle their inheritances themselves or select trustees. Within a year and a half Billie had run through his patrimony and was making devastating inroads into Elise's portion. Ingalls' wild life was sufficient of itself to call forth remonstrance from friends and the one remaining relative, his aunt, Mrs. Williams. But when Elise stood by him valiantly, defending him at every point of attack and giving and giving, thus enabling him to continue in his waywardness, De Forest had sought to put a stop to it all as much for Ingalls' sake as for any other reason. The result had proved disastrous.

"I promised father and mother that I would never desert Billie," Elise had told him defiantly, "and I never shall!"

"Then it must be a decision between him and me," De Forest had hotly demanded.

"It will have to be. It's Billie!" she had replied, pale and with flashing eyes.

De Forest roused himself suddenly from his momentary reflections.

"You must be exaggerating things, Bruce," he exclaimed. "But what has that devilish youngster been doing?"

"All but got into jail! If Elise hadn't sacrificed every last dollar she had to settle and hush things up he'd be there now!"

De Forest stared incomprehensively. "You don't mean— It isn't possible he has finally wormed everything away from her. Oh, the young villain!"

"He even got rid of the homestead and her securities."

"Where is she living?"

"In the worst place— Gee! We searched and searched, Sister Julie and I, and father even wanted to hire detectives to find her, but we wouldn't let him do that. Only last week we found her. It's so—cheap—where she's living!"

"Where?" shouted De Forest. "Do you mean to say she's—real poor?"

"About as poor as that proverbial church rodent. She's working!"

De Forest groaned. He didn't understand exactly why he should do so since he no longer had a right to be interested in her. Nevertheless he suffered at this distressing piece of news.

"Elise Ingalls, raised in luxury, in affluence, working!" He couldn't understand it.

He turned suddenly to Bruce. "You say you know where she lives?"

"Yes."

"Take me there instead of to my home," he said with decision.

"All right," and Bruce leaned forward and gave the chauffeur new directions. "But she won't see you," he went on to De Forest. "The last time Julie was there she came home crying, saying that Elise had requested her not to come again to see her. Julie says that her losses and trouble seem to have hardened her. She told Julie she was going to fight it out alone. The Lord only knows what she's trying to fight out, for Julie says no woman can make her fault at selling the kind of trash she works at. She's clever with her brush, you remember, and she makes little trinkets and sells them. What do you think of that?"

"Good heavens!" answered De Forest.

"Julie begged and begged her to come to us or let us help her, but she wouldn't have any of our assistance. We are all worried half to death to know what is going to become of her."

"How much further do we have to go?" asked De Forest, with suppressed excitement.

"Here's the place," said Bruce. "Her apartment is No. 8."

De Forest had climbed three flights of cheaply carpeted stairs and stood before her door. He knocked gently.

"Come!" He was nearly unnerved at the sound of her voice, but he turned the doorknob and stepped resolutely inside.

It was a mean little place—evidently furnished lodgings—and a strange mixture of adversity and sentiment prevailed. Yet, there was cheer, for the white February sun poured in through the single window, flooding everything, and—Elise was there.

At sight of him she had sprung to her feet, and she now stood, speechless with amazement, beside a benchlike table littered with dainty valentine dinner favors. Scattered about the room on pieces of furniture and pinned to the walls in the process of drying were the all enduring emblems of love—chubby, curly haired cupids, blue forgetmenots, cooing doves, pink and white true lovers' knots, bowers of gay flowers and sprightly figures blushing and bowing to the influence of the tender passion. And in one swift glance De Forest noticed depending from the frame of his own portrait a pair of red hearts entwined by a chaplet of pink roses.

"Elise!" was all he mused as he set eyes on them; then he realized that her gaze was full upon him.

"Really, Mr. De Forest," she said finally and making a supreme effort to maintain her dignity, "I cannot see you! You must excuse me, and won't you please go away—go away! I can't —I"—

Her voice trailed away into a weakening little wail as she watched De Forest.

He had not said a word. He was removing his fur coat and throwing it down beside his cap, and then, with an eager smile, he strode across the room to where she stood, her face drawn and quivering; she was on the verge of tears.

He took both her hands in his. She struggled a bit to free them at first, but he held them masterfully, looking at her tenderly the while. When he spoke there was ineffable love in his voice.

"Elise, dear," he said, "Bruce has told me all—all about it. I didn't imagine such horrible experiences could overtake a woman—you at least! It wouldn't have happened if I had been around, for I should have—well, no matter what I would have done, but I shall never forgive myself for going away. I know you loved me, even if you did choose Billie. It was your sisterly devotion and loyalty, and I should have had sense enough to look at it in another way from what I did. Won't you forgive me, Elise?"

For reply she rested unhesitatingly against his shoulder. His arms went around her comfortingly.

"And you thought you would fight it out alone? How brave you are! Oh, if I had only known!"

"I wanted to send for you," she answered. "It has been you, you, you that I have thought of and wished for through it all. I have longed for you—I have been heartsick for even the sound of your voice! It has seemed at times as though I should die if I didn't see you, and yet I couldn't let you know—I couldn't!"

"YOU PROMISED TO MARRY ME TODAY."

"We were mistaken when we imagined we could go our independent ways," he went on, kissing her passionately. "For nearly a year we have been miserable, but now let us forget those desolate times. You know what day it is and what you promised a year ago."

"Oh, but"—

"Don't remonstrate," she interrupted her. "You promised to marry me today—Valentine's day," holding her savagely to him. "Will you?"

With her arms encircling his neck and her eyes brimming with happiness, she smiled up at him. "Yes," she said.

"Isn't Valentine the dear old saint?" she added.

DON'T WASTE TEARS ON RUBE.

Kind friend, if you're squeezin' your tear bag
Don't bother fur Ruben to cry.
Don't think that he's out of God's knowledge,
A-freezin' in snow ten foot high.

Rube rocks by a roarin' big fire,
A-seckin' rich, sweet apple jooce.
He's cozy as that big fat gray squirrel
That's smoozin' out there in the spruce.

His cellar's chuck full of big taters
An' apples an' punkins an' beets.
The hull house is stacked full of flour.
Why, Rube is jist bustin' with eats!

The smokehouse is festooned with sassage
An' hangin' with bully good ham.
Yaller corn mush, puddin' an' scrapple,
Dried snits, apple butter an' jam,

An' eggs, cream, smearcase an' butter,
Turkey, goose, chicken an' duck—
By golly, a-boardin' with Ruben
Is jist splendideriferous luck!

Then think of them big sleighin' parties
An' kissin' them country gals fair!
Hooray for a life in the country!
It's Ruben, you bet, that gits there!

Go take your tear bag to the city;
Squeeze tears fur the poor city man,
Who rides on the street in a freezer
An' eats from a rusty tin can.

Go tell him King Rube has a-plenty;
His acres ain't got nary debt.
Call him to the farm with its health,
wealth and charm,
The best place on earth, you jist bet!

KURIOS FROM KORRESPONDENTS

Q. My hens are splendid layers, but they will molt late, and thus I miss some of the early winter eggs. How may I arrange my feeding so I get less cheap eggs and more high priced winter eggs?

A. As molting season approaches cut down the ration, omit from it as much as possible egg forming ingredients, feed feather former and keep down lice. Then when feathers are falling fast feed a good strong ration and plenty of it.

Q. Which pigeons do you consider best for market squabs—the Runt, Dragoon, Duchess or Homer?

A. Homer. Runts give a pound and a half squab, but only two or three pairs per year, Dragoons take a week longer to mature, and the Duchess has the unpopular feather leg. Good Homers raise from seven to eight pairs of the quality and size squab in demand per annum.

Q. What is your lifetime does a hen reach the point that she does not pay?

A. When she doesn't pay for her feed, just pays for it or when the profit from her product is not a good rate on the investment. We have had hens lay as well as pullets when in their fifth year, but the limit of usefulness is from two to two and a half. Show birds are different. Some roosters are seen at county fairs ten years in succession and if a rare breed keep winning till the last inning.

OUR POULTRY BOOK.

We receive many letters asking if we write a poultry book and the price. We reply here that we do. Read our rhyme and "take it in time."

"Poultry Notes" is our poultry book,
The only book we write.
It's edited at Riverside
To help you raise fowls right.

You'll not find hot air in this page,
But thoughts from one who strives
To help you make more chicken cash
And bring cheer to your lives.

What does it cost? Oh, just the price
This whole sheet comes to you.
So send its editor your check.
He'll say, "Bully for you!"

DON'TS.

Don't get cranky when the work seems hard. It's not the work at all, It's the crank, my pard.

Don't buy a poultry fence on the simple word of a mail order house catalogue. The hens may slip through the fence, the company slip through its guarantee, while you may bawl, "Oh, woe is me!"

Don't expect to run your hennery successfully with some other fellow's head. It may be a "pumpkin" head.

Don't use old style line cuts on your letter heads and ads. Fine half tones for a rooster booster.

Don't let people get friendly with your bulldog. Don't let him fight, but feed him well at night.

Don't keep leaking water vessels in the pens. They will soak the litter and sicken the hens.

Don't bother breeding every duck Pekin for market; brings best luck.

Don't adopt every new system. The man that makes the business go is not by winds (hot air) tossed to and fro.

Don't imagine a rooster's comb is the sum total. It's the big, juicy breast meat and fat drumstick count in the amount.

Don't knock. Knocking primarily belongs to a spiritualism wake, and there, as everywhere, it's a fake.

Don't exaggerate. A lie, like a Shanghai, always comes home to roost.

COURT SENDS GIRL BACK HOME.

The court at Norristown Monday morning decided that Mary Babb shall on February 6th, return to her parents in Lansdale, from whom she was taken by the court because of their drunken habits. If her parents continue to live the reformed life that they have been for a year or more, she is to remain with them.

The court feels that she is needed at home to help care for her mother, who is subject to sick spells. "If she is placed at service, in a factory or mill, we shall conclude," says Judge Swartz, "that the application on the ground of the sickness of the mother was not made in good faith."

The girl is to remain with her parents under the supervision of the probation officer.

The court extends its thanks to Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Tansy, of Norristown, who have been caring for the girl for more than a year.

Mrs. John Debarth, of Lansdale fell and broke her arm.

Mrs. W. S. Pressgrave, daughter of Isaac D. Heebner, of Lansdale, has just returned from a trip of about seven months abroad.

Mrs. Mary Eppelsheimer, aged 83 years, died at Norristown last Saturday, and on Sunday Mrs. Elizabeth Kelley, aged 90 years, of Norristown, died.

Mrs. Mary Fulmer, of Quakertown, aged 87 years, who was buried a few days ago, leaves one son, John, who is employed in the pension department at Washington, D. C.

Held up by a negro Saturday evening on Walnut lane bridge near Lincoln drive, Germantown, Miss Alice Breen, of 502 West Walnut lane was robbed of her handbag containing $15.

A Conshohocken Magistrate who committed a man to jail was given an uncomfortable half hour when the wife of the imprisoned one appeared in the courtroom and insisted upon leaving her baby in the care of the Judge.

Mrs. Adelaide M. Rogers, widow of Colonel Edward M. Rogers, of the 104th Regiment, P. V., died at her home in Washington, D. C., on Monday. The remains were taken to Doylestown Tuesday for interment.

Although depleted in numbers the Ladies' Aid Society, of the New Britain Baptist church has voted not to disband, and has elected the following officers: Vice president, Mrs. Harvey Fellman; secretary, Mrs. George Gerhart; treasurer, Miss Elmina Shupe.

Mrs. M. L. Harper, principal of the Manatawna Primary School, Upper Roxborough, is confined to her home, Green lane and Mitchell street, with a badly injured ankle, caused by a fall last Friday while giving the pupils a lesson in physical exercise. She was taken home in her father's wagon.

Still vigorous to a great extent, in spite of her eighty-two years, Mrs. Julia Ebert Eichorn, of 5041 N. Marshall street, Olney, celebrated her birthday Sunday. She has been ill, but she recovered sufficiently by Sunday to greet and entertain the friends who called on her. Mrs. Eichorn was born in Germany, coming to this country at the age of ten years. She has been a widow fifteen years.

The funeral of Mrs. Hanna Ann Zell, who died at her home, No. 724 Locust avenue, Germantown, on Saturday was held Tuesday from her late residence. Services were held at the Coulter Street Meeting House of Friends. Mrs. Zell was among the historical characters of Germantown, having lived in the section for forty-seven years. On January 17 she celebrated her 91st birthday. She became president of the Germantown Library and Historical Society, which she helped to organize in 1864 and of which she was the head until her death. She helped to organize sixteen libraries, mostly at seashore places, and was vice-president of the Germahtown Site and Relic Society.

DOG GIVES FIRE ALARM.

Barking of Animal Apprises Family of Blaze in Cellar.

The barking of a dog in the home of Thomas Urban, Lawndale, last Saturday drew the attention of the family to a fire which had started in a defective flue, and probably saved the life of Mrs. Urban, who has been ill three weeks. Mr. Urban and a neighbor carried her to safety.

When Mr. Urban opened the cellar door to investigate the cause of the constant barking of his dog, Prince, he was nearly overcome by the smoke which poured up the stairs. The cellar was ablaze. Getting Mrs. Urban out of danger he turned in an alarm. The entire house was in flames when the firemen arrived. The loss on the building, which was destroyed, was $6000.

DIG UP BONES AT VALLEY FORGE

Said to be Skeletons of Soldiers in Washington's Army.

While digging out a large tree stump and clearing away the thicket on Kendall Hill, at Valley Forge, workmen discovered many bones, supposed to be the skeletons of soldiers of Washington's army. They were gathered up carefully and put in a new grave, over which was placed a marker.

The Daughters of the American Revolution propose to erect a marker nearby, where many graves on that part of the hill are located. This will probably occur this year on the anniversary of the evacuation of the place by Washington's army.

Thomas Summers ran into a playmate while playing on the public school grounds at Kulpsville and sustained a broken nose.

TIMELY RECIPES

APPLE WHIP.

For an apple whip, put the unbeaten whites of two eggs in a bowl and beat just enough to foam slightly. Add two tablespoonfuls of fine granulated sugar and beat for a moment. Grate quickly two peeled and cored and tart apples. Begin to beat, adding the apple pulp a spoonful at a time. Beat until the mixture has swollen to almost three times its first amount and is quite stiff. Add a drop or two of vanilla and heap in glasses. It should not stand more than an hour at most.

FIG DESSERT.

Chop one pound of figs and put in a stew pan with one pint of water, six ounces of sugar, and a little lemon peel. Cook in the oven for two hours, then rub through a sieve (removing the lemon peel), and add one-half ounce of gelatin previously dissolved in water and strained. As it begins to cool, stir in one-fourth gill of thick sweet cream. Have ready a border mold, masked with jelly and decorated with chopped almonds and pistachios, fill with fig puree and set on the ice to harden. Turn out of the mold on to a cold dish, and fill the centre with whipped cream.

CORN BREAD.

One cup of boiled rice, one pint of sifted meal, two well-beaten eggs, a little salt, small piece of melted butter or lard, one teaspoon baking powder, sweet milk to make a rather thin batter. Pour in a well-greased earthen baking dish and bake a half hour or more in a hot oven.

CREAM OF CELERY SOUP WITH PEAS.

Cook the root ends, the leaves, and outside stalks of a bunch of celery and half an onion all cut fine, in boiling water five minutes; drain and cook in water to cover until the celery is soft and the water is reduced. Then press as much of the celery as possible through a sieve and set aside with the liquid. Cook one-fourth a cup of flour in three tablespoonfuls of butter; add gradually one pint of milk, then stir in one pint of white stock (chicken broth may be used.) Repeat and add one cup of hot cream, one cup of peas and salt and pepper as desired.

DOG SHOW AT AMBLER, PA.

Prominent men of North Penn and the suburban section immediately north of Philadelphia, members of the Gwynedd Valley Kennel Club, are planning a dog show at Ambler, on August 27, provided the consent of the American Kennel Club can be procured for that date. These officials were nominated; President, Joseph A. Buchanan; first vice-president, Howard Dager; second vice-president, Edward Trotter Price; third vice-president, Edward Ingersoll; secretary, George Brock; treasurer, William J. Devine; executive committee, Edward Ingersoll, J. Sergeant Price, Lynford Biddle, Edward T. Price, Dr. Henry Jarret, Rees G. Roberts, Dr. Andrew Godfrey, Harold G. Knight, C. William Haywood, Howard J. Dager, James Bechtold, J. E. Underwood, Samuel Doran, Edward L. Roger and William J. Devine.

The Churchville Y held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Lester Plumley, at Davisville, on Wednesday. A valentine social will be given at the home of Miss Sidney DuBois on February 14th.

The Lansdale Republican newspaper, the property of the late J. W. Harvey, is advertised to be sold at public sale this month by Eliza J. Harvey, administratrix. The Republican was established in 1884, and for the last 16 years was under the management of Mr. Harvey. The sale includes the newspaper, all the type, presses, etc.

Miss Rebecca M. Roberts, C. Townley Larzelere, and Ralph Wismer, having passed the State Board's examination, will be admitted to practice at the bar of Montgomery county on February 7th. Miss Roberts is a daughter of George W. Roberts, real estate broker; Mr. Larzelere is a son of Attorney Nicholas H. Larzelere; and Mr. Wismer is a resident of Trappe.

MAGAZINES.

THE FEBRUARY LIPPINCOTT'S.

The mere fact that it contains George Randolph Chester's latest novel would be enough to interest most people in the February Lippincott's yet the said novel is only one item. The yarn is fully up to the standard set by this author's other popular works, "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," "Bobby Burnit," etc.

"American Society in 1873: As Seen by Two French Noblemen." In them the two young men give their impressions of the country in general, the prominent cities, the society women, the American army and its commander-in-chief, with the utmost frankness. Other non-fictional offerings in this issue are "St. Valentine," by Minna Thomas Antrim; "The New Tariff Commission," by Willard French; "Fads in Literature," by Kate Masterson; "The Advent of the Man of Great Wealth in the Amusement World," by Robert Grau; "On Being Bored," by Thomas L. Masson, and "Lo the Pure Puritan," by Elizabeth Maury Coombs. There are a number of clever short stories.

THE FEBRUARY AMERICAN MAGAZINE.

One of the important features in the February American Magazine is an article by Albert W. Atwood describing the enormous monopoly exercised by six express companies in America which control 90 per cent. of the country's express business. They have acquired their gigantic power owing to the fact that there has been no parcels post in this country and they have determined as it has pleased them what rates they shall charge for doing business. Mr. Atwood shows how these companies have usurped the privileges that are not rightly theirs and how the public have had to pay the unfair tariffs the companies have imposed and contribute to their tremendous profits.

Another interesting article is Ernest Poole's study of the remarkable character of Louis D. Brandeis—a man whose life is a long record of unselfish work done in the public interest.

Other features are A. J. Noch's description of the personal property tax laws in different states in the union—in none of which are they either adequate or just; "The Will to Live—With Death at Hand" which is an account of the terrible struggle for existence made by Lieut. Greeley and his men at Cape Sabine and their timely rescue by Admiral Schley; and William Allen White's keen political article entitled "The Old Problem of the Dog and the Engine."

"Mr. Worldly Wiseman" appears in the "Interpreter's House," and Walter Prichard Eaton writes about "Our Comedy of Bad Manners" in "The Theater."

"The Adventure of the Arlesienne" is by the delightful writer William J. Locke and other good fiction is contributed by Richard Washburn Child, Frances Hodgson Burnett, James Hopper, Lucy Pratt and Maurice Brown Kirby.

The issue is a particularly good one for The American Magazine which is high praise.

UNIQUE STORIES OF PENNSYLVANIA CRIME.

That "truth is stranger than fiction" is no empty saying is apparently to have strong exemplification in a series of articles soon to be published in Sunday issues of the Philadelphia North American. The first will appear next Sunday, February 5.

Under the general caption, "Pennsylvania's Greatest Crime Mysteries," one of the articles will appear each week. Crimes that have been the talk of counties for years will be attractively presented, with a view to bringing out the noteworthy features rather than to repeat the horrible details.

Woman's Danger Periods Made Safe

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Here is proof:

Natick, Mass.,—"I cannot express what I went through during the Change of Life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold. I had creepy sensations and could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I had a tumor.

"I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it has worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish this letter."—Mrs. Nathan B. Greaton, 51 No. Main St., Natick, Mass.

ANOTHER SIMILAR CASE.

Cornwallville, N. Y.—"I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time for Change of Life, nervousness, and a fibroid growth.

"Two doctors advised me to go to the hospital, but one day while I was away visiting, I met a woman who told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and I know it helped me wonderfully. I am very thankful that I was told to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Wm. Boughton, Cornwallville, N. Y., Greene Co.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as those above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

We Give Satisfaction--
Results prove it

The intimate knowledge of the oculist (registered physician) enables him to determine quickly and accurately just what you need. You may need glasses or you may not, our oculist will tell you. If it is a case of glasses he will thoroughly examine your eyes and prescribe for them. Our optician will then adjust the glasses to your eyes.

We give satisfaction where others cannot, because we combine the services of an oculist (registered physician) and an optician at one cost and one sitting. Our oculists examine your eyes; our opticians make and fit your glasses.

ON ACCOUNT OF THE ROUGH, frozen mud roads this week several horses were injured. On Wednesday of this week three were killed and removed in Hobensack's ambulance on account of broken legs. Another argument in favor of macadam roads.

THE BILL WHICH PROVIDES FOR the abolition of all toll roads in the State by the State purchasing them, has been reported out of committee in the Senate at Harrisburg and started on its way through the Legislature. The bill carries with it an appropriation of $2,000,000.

It should contain a provision that these freed toll roads, which are generally main lines of travel, should be State roads, cared for by the State Highway Department.

The present law which places the care of freed toll roads on the already overburdened townships, is a poor one and should be repealed.

RESIDENTS OF OLD YORK ROAD section have been greatly interested in the published plan of Philadelphia city to build a subway under Broad street from League Island to City Line, near Oak Lane.

The Legislature is to be asked to increase the borrowing power of Philadelphia so it can raise the millions of dollars required for this great improvement.

This subway would be a great thing for the section of the country adjacent to York road and its connecting electric railway lines, as it would reduce the trolley time to Market street by at least half an hour. Property values and population would greatly increase at all points south of Hatboro and Doylestown.

Fox Chase and Rockledge

SAVED FROM DROWNING.

On the way home from school, Harold Herman, aged 11 years, ventured too near thin ice on Harper's lake and fell in water over his head. Two brave little companions, Howard and Marion Fenton, reached out and drew him to stronger ice at the risk of slipping in themselves. So far the duckling and the fright have determined the children to let thin ice alone hereafter, especially Harold.

Some of our residents attended the funeral of Thomas Patterson from his late residence in Philadelphia, on Monday afternoon. Mr. Patterson was a resident of this neighborhood for many years and lived on his farm, the Tenant, until about a year or so ago. He sold it and it is now known as the Log College Assembly.

Owen Adams, who has secured employment at Newtown for quite a length of time, is still unable to move his family there on account of scarcity of houses in town. He continues to make weekly trips home, which is rather inconvenient, as if he comes by trolley he has four miles at this end of the route to walk.

The evangelistic services which are being held in the Neshaminy of Warwick Presbyterian church under the direction of the Rev. Mr. Faulconer, have been well attended, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather conditions, and will be continued during the coming week, excepting Monday night. There will also be a meeting at the Bridge Valley school room on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mr. Faulconer is a forceful and convincing speaker, who is being sent by the evangelistic committee of the Presbytery of Philadelphia North, and comes to the Neshaminy church after a very successful series of meetings at the Doylestown Presbyterian church, Rev. Steckel, pastor.

James Carrell, of Doylestown township, who teaches school near Telford, arrived home Friday ill, and it was discovered he had an attack of scarlet fever.

The license of the Fountain House has been transferred to Abram Tyson, formerly of Line Lexington.

Elder J. M. Fenton, of Philadelphia, preached last Sunday at Southampton Baptist church, in the absence of Elder Durand in the South.

Mr. Johnson, Mr. DuBois and Pastor Anderson had their homes lighted by the electricity for the first time last Wednesday night.

The funeral of the late John McFern was largely attended. Pastor Anderson conducted the services. Interment at Hatboro.

Rev. and Mrs. Austin O. Boda, of Tacony, recently visited his former congregation here. Rev. Boda has given up his charge at the First Baptist church, in Tacony, and on Monday will move to Baltimore, where he has accepted another charge.

The Southampton Improvement Association decided last Wednesday night to place electric lights on the streets in place of the oil lamps now in use. A committee was appointed to make the necessary arrangements with the Jenkintown Electric Light Company. It is hoped to have the lights installed before the end of the month.

The Southampton Missionary Circle met at the home of Mrs. Walter Yerkes, last Wednesday afternoon. The attendance was large and an excellent program was carried out. The mite boxes opened showed $11.70. Several of the boxes are yet to be received. The circle recently sent a roll of muslin, cut into bandages, for the foreign field work.

Mrs. R. M. Stout entertained the Ladies' Auxiliary on Thursday afternoon at her home in Southampton. A goodly number were present. Work was started for Miss Burd's school for poor children, near Doylestown. The sewing was interspersed with music by Mrs. F. G. Koehler, Mrs. Hoffman, Miss Mae Wolfe and others. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Finney, on Thursday, February ninth, at 2 p. m.

Mrs. F. G. Koehler delightfully entertained the Ladies' Pinochle Club at her home in Southampton, on Friday afternoon. After much merriment and enjoyment of the game, and a pleasing repast, the guests departed. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. V. Hogeland, February third. The guests present were Mrs. Willis Leedom, Mrs. G. R. Leedom, Mrs. H. V. Hogeland, Mrs. Clemens, Mrs. George Stockburger, Mrs. Eugene Savage, Mrs. Herman Deigendesch, Mrs. F. G. Koehler, Misses Jennie LaRue, Maud Clayton and Laura Stockberger.

JOHNSVILLE

FAREWELL PARTY.

A farewell party was tendered to Mrs. C. Rush, and her sister, Mrs. Hart, on Wednesday evening by a few of their friends. The evening was spent in playing cards and games. At a late hour refreshments were served and the guests then departed, thanking their host for the pleasant evening they had spent. Those present were: Mrs. C. Rush, Mrs. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Buskirk, Mr. and Mrs. Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Walker, Mrs. Mullen, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Tomlinson, Mrs. Fley, Sr. and Mrs. Montanye, Mr. and Mrs. William Bussinger, Miss Susie Zerbe, Miss Radcliff, Misses Myrtle Weaver, Mabel Wambold, Susie Tomlinson, Dorothy Fley and Evelyn Fley, Charlie Chapman, Frank Wambold, Alvin Knight.

Mrs. Hart, who has been making her home with her sister, Mrs. Rush, has gone to Harrisburg, where she will make her home with her daughter.

Miss Viola Wambold entertained a few of her friends at her home in Johnsville on Saturday evening, January 28th, in honor of her friend, Miss Margaret Wesley.

James Knight had his faithful old gray horse killed on Wednesday. The animal fell one day while out in the lot and broke a bone in his hip, and the veterinary pronounced it incurable. The insurance company ordered the steed killed.

James Knight entertained at cards on Wednesday last, F. Freidman and wife, William Bussinger and wife, C. Mullin and wife, A. E. Montanye and wife, Samuel Walker and wife, Lloyd Walker, Miss Radcliff, Mrs. Fley, C. Chapman, Myrtle Weaver and others.

Hatboro Home Happenings

HATBORO IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED.

At the invitation of Warren M. Cornell, some twenty of more gentlemen of the town met at the Council Chamber on Wednesday night to talk over and form an Improvement Association for Hatboro.

As nearly every one invited was present, it was necessary to adjourn the meeting up to the firemen's room, on the second floor. Alfred C. Young was elected temporary chairman and Warren M. Cornell temporary secretary. Mr. Young stated the call of the meeting and called upon every one present to give their views and it was decided to form a permanent organization. The officers elected were Dr. Thomas Reading, president; George W. Flavell, vice president; Warren M. Cornell, secretary.

The matter of treasurer and committees, the adopting of by-laws and constitution and the amount of dues, etc. were all left to a meeting to be held next Thursday, February 9th, at town hall.

It is earnestly hoped that every man in Hatboro, who is interested in the welfare of the town, whether he be a business man or property owner or professional man, will be present at this next meeting. The success of this organization depends upon the co-operation of every individual in the borough, so let every man turn out at the next meeting, and lend a hand in completing the organization started.

One of the prime objects of the Improvement Association is to get better train facilities and it is thought that this can be done by co-operating with other Improvement Associations now formed or forming. It was shown what the Roslyn Association had done and that Willow Grove had recently organized an association, and that Ivyland was shortly to organize an association. It was stated that by uniting the Improvement Associations and hiring attorneys that the State Railroad commission could be shown the necessity for better train facilities for our section, and that the Reading Railway was greatly injuring our whole community by the poor facilities given to the patrons of the North east branch.

Many other improvements were talked of and it was suggested that one of the objects of the association would be the co-operation and suggestion to borough council on points of improvement and betterment.

PETTY THEFTS BY BOYS.

Hatboro Railway Station Robbed of Small Sums of Money in Daylight.

For several weeks past Hatboro station has been robbed of small sums of money and the Union News case of cigars and cigarettes, has also suffered. Most of these thefts have occurred on Sunday, while the station agent and assistants are away, from about ten o'clock until two.

The thefts were reported to the Reading officials by Agent Crouthamel, but no marks of forcible entry could be found, and the officers as well as the station agent were puzzled. The last theft was on Sunday last. The amounts have now run up to between $10 and $15, and as it was necessary for Mr. Crouthamel and his assistants to make this up each time, it is becoming hard on them.

It is now pretty well established who the thieves are and their method of working. They are said to be boys, and their art in effecting an entrance equals that of hardened criminals. They carried a screw driver by which the screws of the catch of the screen on the front window were taken out, a long stick with a loop of wire on the end was poked in, catching the inside dead latch of the office door, which would open when pulled back. In this way they would take the change in the drawer or the change for the sale of tobacco and help themselves to things about the place. Afterward they would replace the screws taken out and there was nothing left to show how the entrance was made. It was only by discovering this stick with the wire that the clue for the detectives to start work upon was found. No arrests have been made, but the authorities think they know by whom the theft was committed.

Miss May Weiss has been visiting relatives in the borough.

Barton Quirk is at home from Lehigh University for a brief visit.

Miss Millie Webster, of Bay City, Mich., is visiting Miss Elsie Jones.

Dr. Thomas Reading is running his new 1911 Cadillac car, which is a beauty.

There will be baptism in the Baptist church this Sunday at the close of the evening service.

The children of Harvey Thompson, who resides on the Hatboro and Horsham pike, are ill with scarlet fever.

Pastor F. C. Colby will preach in the Baptist church next Sunday at 10.30 a. m. and 7.45 p. m. Everybody welcome.

Turnpike Superintendent Ridpath has had cleaned the gutters and side roads along York road through the borough this week.

The office of the gas company has been moved to the water works plant. The building they formerly occupied will be greatly improved by the new owner.

In the Methodist Episcopal church, next Sabbath, J. Furman Shook pastor, at both services, morning at 10.30, "The Lord's Memorial;" evening at 7.45, "Marred." Everybody welcome.

During the first ten school days of February, in accordance with the provisions of the school laws, beginners may be admitted into the Hatboro primary school, if they have been successfully vaccinated and will be of school age before the close of the term.

Perhaps one of the best compliments paid to the Hatboro Baking Company was told to the Public Spirit reporter this week. It was at one of the down-country stores, where bread is furnished by two Philadelphia bakers and by the Hatboro bakery, the proprietor said that the Hatboro production was better than the other bread and found ready sale in competition with any other make.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fetter recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Webster and children, of near Ivyland.

Mr. and Mrs. Will N. Thomas of Byberry avenue, entertained on Saturday afternoon and evening. Cards in the afternoon and dancing in the evening.

In rebuilding their line in the borough the electric light company has placed new street lamps in position. These new lights are bright and give a good illumination. The company has also provided a switch box at their plant here to turn on and off the current for Hatboro street lamps.

Those who believe in the ground hog as a weather prophet were sure on Thursday till afternoon that winter was over. Then the sun came out, and they are as uncertain what the weather is likely to be during the next six weeks.

The Rapid Transit Company put a force of men at work Friday morning to build the siding into the freight yard at Moore's hotel. It seems that a mistake was made when the track was cut for the siding a few weeks ago. New measurements were made and the siding will leave the main track at a point further down York street. The freight house is nearly ready for use and by the time the siding is finished freight shipments can be made to the new terminal.

If you want a man write to the mission, no fee charged.

ORIGIN OF

Pinkham's Blood Purifier

Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., succeeded in producing, from the roots and herbs of the fields, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the most successful medicine for women's ailments the world has ever known. After she had put this on the market, women began to write her about their health, because they felt a natural delicacy about consulting any man physician regarding these ailments for which the Vegetable Compound is intended.

She soon found that her correspondents often had complications caused by impure, impoverished blood, and she recognized the necessity of having a reliable blood purifier which she could recommend with confidence as

The Best Spring Medicine

Then, as now, there were many blood purifiers and spring medicines on the market, and after looking into them, she found nothing so good as the old home medicine made from roots and herbs, which she had been accustomed to use in her own family, so she had this made up on a large scale, and furnished it to the stores. It has been very little advertised, but has attained a large sale solely on its merits, and is really a wonderful blood purifier and spring medicine.

It is a good old-fashioned household remedy made from roots and herbs, which has been used from generation to generation for purifying the blood, removing humors and eruptions, and for that all "played out" feeling.

Mrs. Thomas Cromley has been on the sick list.

Dr. C. O. Dager was an over Sunday visitor at Atlantic City.

Mrs. Sara Emerson, of Norristown, was visiting in the borough on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver T. Watson and daughter spent the week end at Atlantic City.

Gilbert Stackhouse, of Philadelphia, was the guest of Jacob Puff and family on Sunday.

Prof. Alfred C. Wood, of Philadelphia, was the guest of his brother, Newton, on Sunday.

Harry Brown, of New York, was visiting his parents, Joseph Brown and wife, on Saturday.

Mrs. Isaac Stringfellow, of Philadelphia, visited her parents, Squire Hockman and wife, on Tuesday.

The ladies of the Baptist church will give their annual supper on Friday evening, February 17, 1911.

Joseph Long and family, of Philadelphia, were the guests of the family of Mrs. Emma Palmer on Sunday.

C. C. Moore has had a new heater put in his hotel this week. F. H. McVaugh had the work in charge.

The body of Joseph Jarrett, who died last week at Davisville, was buried on Monday at Hatboro cemetery.

The Ladies' Guild, of the M. E. church was entertained at the home of Mrs. Mary Kerbaugh, on Wednesday afternoon.

The Farther Lights Society, of the Baptist church, met in the lecture room this Friday afternoon. Miss Anna Logan was the leader.

The baked bean supper of the M. E. church held in Goessler's hall on Friday evening was well attended and resulted in a financial success.

Monroe Watson, cousin of Postmaster Watson, died in Philadelphia last week. He was a frequent visitor in our borough and was well known here.

Sunday furnished a variety of weather—clear, cloudy, hail, rain and snow. The heavy rains during the night took away the last vestige of snow.

J. Fretz Lazelere, of Philadelphia, the recent purchaser of the Andrew Lentz place, expects to occupy it as his residence. He will take possession shortly.

The choir of the Baptist church rendered some beautiful music at the song service last Sunday evening, but owing to the bad weather and poor attendance, the music will be repeated on Sunday evening, February 12.

Mrs. Shaver, mother of Lyman Shaver, of this borough, passed away at the home of her brother in Canada. She recently resided in Horsham, and later in Hatboro. She was a fine woman, of noble Christian character, and was one of the faithful members of the Hatboro M. E. church.

Observers of the work being done by the Rapid Transit Company in rebuilding the structures of Moore's hotel for a freight station have noted at the solidity of the construction. Timbers 10 by 12 and 12 by 14, have been used to support floors and shore up walls. The roof rafters are joists 2 by 10 supported on heavy timbers. There is no possibility of this building ever breaking down through any weight that may be placed upon it.

This community will be very sorry to learn of the death of George Hoffman, only son of the Rev. George and Eliza Hoffman Worrell. This fine boy was almost ten years old and spent five years of his life, 1903 to 1908, at the Orange Home, of which his father was the founder and superintendent from 1903 to 1908. He was born at the rectory of the Collingdale R. E. church and died on the 24th, of intestinal tuberculosis, at the rectory of Atonement Reformed Episcopal church, Lancaster, of which his father is the rector. The funeral was held on Wednesday, the first of this month. His parents have many warm friends in this locality and all of them will sincerely sympathize with them in their bereavement.

Albert Maxwell, who was well known here, died suddenly at his home in West Philadelphia, on Sunday evening last, of heart disease. Mr. Maxwell had been well enough to attend the church services on Sunday but at the evening service was taken sick. He arrived home only a few minutes before he expired. The funeral services were held in the Hatboro Baptist church on Thursday afternoon. Interment at Hatboro cemetery. He was in his 53d year, and is survived by a wife and son, Russell. He was a member of Fortuna Lodge 118, K. of P. and Washington Camp No. 361, P. O. S. of A. For many years he resided in Hatboro. He had been in the grocery business in Philadelphia, but had recently purchased a restaurant. His sudden death was a great shock to his friends.

A meeting of the Crooked Billet Literary society of the Hatboro High School was held on January 30. The following officers were elected: President, Earle Twining; vice president, Joseph Flack; secretary, Mary Ritchie; treasurer, Helen Detwiler; critic, Mr. Carl; reporter, Clifford Fenton. The literary program consisted of an essay read by Jane Meridith, a recitation by Helen Raisner. Then a double quartette was sung by the following, Alice Kerns, Mary Stone, Margaret Tugman, Marie Yerkes, Clifford Fenton, Herbert Mattinson, Harold Thomas and Harold Wescoat. The next in order was a debate, the question being: Resolved that life in the country affords more advantages than life in the city. The question was decided in favor of the affirmative. The persons on the side of the affirmative were: Joseph Flack, Alverna Houk, Mary Whiteside, on the negative, Herbert Mattinson, Sydney Clayton, Marion Barnes. A violin solo was played by Herbert Mattinson, the Bi-Weekly was read by Laura Weld and after the critic had given her remarks, the meeting adjourned.

Mrs. B. F. Hilt has been on the sick list.

Russell Fluck is spending some time with friends in Camden.

Miss Vera Wescoat, who has been very sick, is improving.

Miss Grace Trimble spent part of this week with relatives in Lancaster, Pa.

Mrs. Crane, of Newark, N. J., was the recent guest of Mrs. W. N. Thomas of Byberry avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Weikel and children spent Sunday with Mrs. Annie Wambold, of Johnsville.

Mrs. William Groff, of Moreland avenue, was taken to the Samaritan Hospital on Wednesday, where she will receive treatment.

Samuel Buckman, of the borough, and Clifford Randall of Newtown, attended a basket ball game at West Chester, between the George School boys and West Chester boys last Saturday.

During Monday night the heater in C. C. Moore's hotel sprung a leak and it was necessary to draw the fire. Tuesday morning Mr. Moore and F. H. McVaugh went to Philadelphia in McVaugh's automobile to order a new heater. They arrived at the heater place about eight o'clock. The heater people were told to hustle, which they did, and had the heater shipped by trolley freight, and it arrived here about three p. m. McVaugh's men got busy and by three a. m. on Wednesday morning the new heater was set up, all attachments made and fire started. This breaks the record for quick work, and shows one of the benefits of trolley freight, which is much quicker than the railroad freight.

ONE KILLED, 20 HURT IN WRECK

Express Train and Freight Collide on Siding at Chalfont.

The Doylestown express of the Philadelphia and [illegible] railway crashed into a freight train standing on a siding near Chalfont Saturday morning. One man was killed, others suffered severe injuries and a score of passengers were bruised, shaken and cut by flying glass. The cause of the wreck was an open switch.

The dead man is Charles Brower, 25 years old, of Lansdale, fireman of the express. Walter Garner, 22 years old, an extra fireman of the express, who also lives in Lansdale was badly hurt, and the seriously injured are the engineers of both passenger and freight trains.

All were placed on a train bound for Philadelphia, and taken to the Jewish Hospital, where Brower was pronounced dead. Garner's injuries consist of a fractured skull and badly bruised body. The injured passengers were treated by physicians summoned from nearby.

The express train left Doylestown at 8.15 a. m., and was due at the Reading Terminal at 9.22. It was heavily patronized by women shoppers, city workers and students. The train was running at fast speed as it approached Chalfont. When the crash came passengers were flung in heaps upon the floor and seats wrenched from their fastenings piled upon them, a shower of flying glass cutting many of them. One woman fainted and was carried from the train and revived.

Brower was jammed between the wrecked passenger locomotive and the tender. It was impossible to get him out until an extra locomotive pulled the tender and locomotive apart. He died on the way to the hospital.

Horace Hefengington, of Norristown, a brakeman employed by the Philadelphia & Reading Railway, was on Tuesday morning held to await the action of the Grand Jury by Coroner Ford, of Philadelphia, upon the charge of criminal negligence in leaving a switch open at the Forrest Park siding, which resulted in a head-on collision between a passenger and a freight train on the morning of January 28, causing the death of Charles Brown, of Lansdale, fireman on the engine of the express.

Charles Mick, engineer of the express, testified that he saw the freight on the siding and received a signal to come on from Hefengington, but saw the switch was open and put on the emergency brakes and reversed his engine, but it was too late to avert the accident.

When Hefengington was called he appeared to feel his position keenly and frankly told the Coroner that he did not remember fixing the switch, but he might have done so.

He admitted giving Mick the signal for a clear track and was dazed when he saw the express engine pile into the freight.

"This appears to me to be a case of gross negligence," said the Coroner, "and it looks to me as if it was up to you, and I will be glad to hear any further explanation you may want to give."

The brakeman could not say anything additional and the Coroner said: "I will have to hold you responsible for this death. When you gave the signal for the express to come on you assumed the responsibility and did not look to see the condition of the switch."

NEWTOWN

A meeting of the Newtown Athletic Association was held Friday evening when it was decided to hold a fair in February, beginning on the 11th and continuing to the 27th, in the agricultural works building.

The officers of Camp No. 588, P. O. S. of A., of Newtown, were installed on Friday evening by District President Harry J. Shellenberger, of Doylestown. The new officers of the Camp are as follows: President, William N. Fuhrer; vice president, James E. Wright; master of forms, S. Willett Hibbs; recording secretary, Alfred W. Terry; treasurer, C. M. Allen; financial secretary, Morris R. Girton; conductor, Watson C. Eyre; inner guard, William Vanborn; outer guard, Howard M. Hillborn; trustee, James E. Wright.

LOSES LEG UNDER TRAIN

Glenside Man Falls Beneath Wheels in Attempting to Board Car.

Charles Feiser, 30 years old, of Glenside, son of Edward Feiser, slipped and fell under the wheels of the last car of the Bethlehem express, that leaves the Reading Terminal at 2.40 Sunday morning, and known as the paper train.

When taken to Hahnemann hospital it was found that his right leg had been so badly crushed that it had to be amputated.

Feiser, who is a conductor on the 15th street line, of the Rapid Transit Company, and running out of the Willow Grove barn, had been spending the evening in Philadelphia and was on his way home. As he passed through the train gates at the Terminal, the cars were just moving away and running to catch the train he slipped and fell.

Feiser is known in Hatboro, as his father at one time kept the paper and cigar store, now run by Frank P. Snyder. His father also is a barber and worked at both Hatboro and Willow Grove.

The firm of Rosenberry & Godshall, local automobile dealers of Lansdale, has been dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Rosenberry will continue the business, while Mr. Godshall, the retiring member, will devote his entire time to the interests of the milling firm of A. C. Godshall & Co., of which he is a member.

There is likely to be a change in the makeup of the North Penn League for the coming season. At the next meeting of the League Joseph Hunsberger, manager of the Souderton team, will ask that his franchise be transferred to Quakertown. This will make the League consist of Doylestown, Ambler, Lansdale, Glenside, Perkasie and Quakertown.

After La Grippe

"I had suffered several weeks with LaGrippe. Had pains in my head and eyes. It felt as though there was a heavy weight on the top of my head, until it seemed that my brain would burst. I was so nervous that I could not rest or sleep. When I dozed off I would awake with a sudden jerking of my whole body. Dr. Miles' Nervine, Heart Remedy and Nerve and Liver Pills cured me. A number of friends have since realized the same benefits."

MRS. ALVIN H. LOCKS,
Seabrook, N. H.

The after effects of LaGrippe are often more serious than the disease, as it leaves the system in a weakened condition that invites more serious troubles, such as pneumonia, etc.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine should be taken for some time to thoroughly restore nerve strength.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by all druggists. If the first bottle does not benefit, your druggist will return your money.

FUNERAL OF C. JOHNSON KIRK.

The funeral of C. Johnson Kirk was conducted on Tuesday at the home of his son-in-law, S. Sott Grey, on Chanellor street, Newtown. The deceased until recent years resided at Forest Grove, but with his family moved to Santa Anna, California, a number of years ago, and his death occurred at his home there on January 21st.

Thoughtless words may come back in a way that is exceedingly annoying.

The Pottstown Blade, together with the job printing office, good will and fixtures has been sold by L. R. Saylor to A. J. Bradley and Fred A. Sotter.

Gwynedd's oldest citizen, Silas White, who is a great reader, and has never worn glasses, will celebrate his 96th birthday on February 8. His mother lived to be 106 and she also scorned spectacles.

Plans have been drawn by Architect Ott, of North Wales, for a new stone church to be erected near Kulpsville by the Reformed denomination now worshiping in Christ church. The building will be 50 by 80 feet.

Tuberculosis

Plenty of fresh air, sleeping out-doors and a plain, nourishing diet are all good and helpful, but the most important of all is

WAGES AND FARE RAISED

The Montgomery Traction Company, operating the trolley line from Norristown to Lansdale, has announced that the wages of the employes would be increased from 21 to 23 cents an hour.

Simultaneously the fare from Norristown to Lansdale will be increased from 20 cents to 25 cents, through the elimination of the fare limit from the Norristown borough line to Franklinville, with Washington Square as a new fare limit, and making it cost 15 cents to ride to Centre Square, a short five miles. The changes went into effect February 1.

Rheumatism

Is A Constitutional Disease.

It manifests itself in local aches and pains,—inflamed joints and stiff muscles,—but it cannot be cured by local applications.

It requires constitutional treatment, and the best is a course of the great blood purifying and tonic medicine

JAMES SIMONS.

On Sunday, January 29, James Simons, died at his late residence, Verbena avenue, Oak Lane.

MARY A. BROOKS.

Mary A., widow of Thomas A. Brooks, died on Friday, aged 80 years. The funeral was held from her late residence, near Somerton, on Tuesday. Interment at William Penn cemetery.

FRANK L. RALSTON.

Frank Lawrence, husband of Bertha Ralston (nee Harter,) died on Saturday, January 28, 1911, at Chalfont. The funeral services were held from the residence of his father-in-law, N. R. Aitkin, West Philadelphia, on Wednesday. The interment was private.

WILLIAM ROBINSON.

Captain William Robinson, a veteran of the Civil War and a member of one of the most distinguished colonial families in the United States, died suddenly on Saturday at the home of his daughter-in-law on Penn street, Frankford, and Dr. Victor L. Baker, chief resident physician of the Frankford Hospital, who was summoned, said that the veteran, who was about 65 years old, was apparently a victim of heart disease. The remains were removed to the Robinson estate, "The Grange," in Bustleton. A widow and several children survive.

MRS. MARY A. CAMPBELL.

Mary A. Campbell, a life long resident of Bucks and Montgomery counties, died on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock of apoplexy at the home of her son, Robert M. Campbell, in Doylestown township. She was the daughter of the late John and Elizabeth (Wright) McEwen, of Eureka, and widow of the late Edwin T. Campbell.

She is survived by two sons, Robert, of Doylestown, and Elmer, of Chalfont and five grandchildren. The interment was made in the Neshaminy burial ground.

JAMES M. HARNER.

James M. Harner, for the past 15 years a resident of near Wheel Pump, died on Saturday and was buried in Cold Point cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. The deceased was 64 years of age. Mr. Harner was the son of Anthony Harner, who for many years kept the toll gate at the foot of Chestnut Hill and later moved to Plymouth and died at Harmonville.

The deceased leaves two sons, George and Fred, and one daughter, Elsie, together with a widow. For many years he lived on the James Coulson farm, at Bell's Corner. He was an active member of the Cold Point council, Jr. O. U. A. M.

ALBERT WILGUS.

Albert Wilgus died after a long illness at his home in Chalfont, on Monday afternoon, aged 75 years.

Mr. Wilgus some years ago suffered from a severe attack of pneumonia which left him with weak lungs and from which he has suffered every winter. He had taken a heavy cold early in the autumn which developed into consumption. On Friday evening he was attacked by a stroke on the left side and on Saturday morning had another which paralyzed his whole body.

Mr. Wilgus had been a prosperous farmer in his time, living on a farm about two miles from Chalfont on the Limekiln pike. He retired about two years ago and bought a home in Chalfont where he lived with his wife at the time of his death.

The deceased is survived by his widow and five children, Mrs. Lewis Weisel, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Elwood Wampole, of Colmar; Albert Wilgus, Jr., of Chalfont; Edgar Wilgus, of Furlong, and Horace Wilgus, of Philadelphia.

Funeral on Thursday, interment at Beulah cemetery, New Britain.

MRS. MARY H. M'CONNELL.

Mrs. Mary H. M'Connell, wife of the late William McConnell, died on Friday afternoon, January 27th, at the home of her son, Simon B. McConnell, of Doylestown township, of paralysis of the heart, aged 89 years, 4 months and 7 days.

Mrs. McConnell was born at Fox Chase, on September 20, 1821, and was one of seven children of the late Malachi Taylor and Susanah Wright Taylor, his wife. On February 15, 1844, she was married to William McConnell and moved to Buckingham where they resided eight years. They next moved to Edison and after living there about a year or in 1853, moved to New Britain. After the death of her husband, Mrs. McConnell lived for sixteen years in Doylestown and three years ago went to live with her son at whose home she died.

Mrs. McConnell was a devout Christian. At the age of fifteen years she was baptized at the old Pennepack church, Bustleton, one of the oldest Baptist churches in Pennsylvania. Upon moving to Buckingham she united with the Baptist church at New Britain by letter, this being the nearest church of that denomination. This was in 1844 and she has remained a member ever since, and was looked upon as the oldest member of that church.

The deceased is survived by a sister, Mrs. Emily McVaugh, of Norristown; one son, Simon B. McConnell, of New Britain, and six grandchildren, Miss Margaretta and Howard McConnell, of New Britain and Miss Clara, Miss Olive, Robert and William McConnell, of Frankford.

A FEW WORDS OF WARNING.

Do not thing a cough should go neglected, that is false because a cough is an index of some disorder and the proper midicine should be taken (Dill's Cough Syrup) to quickly remedy the cause and help to throw off the refuse.

FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION.

Horsham Friends' Association held a meeting at the meeting house on First-day, First-month, 29th, at 2.45 o'clock. The meeting was opened by President Paul Satterthwaite, who called on Anna M. Hallowell for Scripture reading.

A recitation, "This Too Shall Pass Away," was given by Anna S. Butcher.

Eleanor Hallowell read "The History of the Barefoot Boy," written for the 70th anniversary of the birth of John G. Whittier.

Sarah Jarrett read a paper on "The Heroes of Peace."

Professor Benjamin Batten, of Swarthmore College, then addressed the association on "The Political and Social Conditions in Germany." It was most interesting and instructive, and the feeling was expressed that such a talk as this from one who spoke from actual experience gained by frequent visits to the country was far more valuable and convincing than much reading. Questions were asked and answered by the speaker.

Alice M. Wood reported on current topics giving an account of the conference held at 15th and Race streets, on Seventh-day, 28th inst.

Edward Porter, of McKinley, was a visitor here on Saturday.

O. H. S. Maurer is recovering from the effects of a recent fall.

Harrison H. Minor, of Edge Hill, was a visitor here on Saturday.

Mrs. Amos H. Moore visited her sisters at Warmington, on Friday.

Everett Rutherford and family recently visited relatives at Warrington.

The fine new house of William J. Tyson, on the pike is approaching completion.

Harry Rutherford, wife and children recently visited relatives at Warrington.

William Tyson moved his family from William J. Hallowell's house, to the Peterson place, near Hatboro.

McKINLEY

The members of the T. J. L. spent Saturday evening at Keith's theatre in the city.

Duncan Cameron has the contract to build an addition to the house of William Mainwaring, corner of Ogontz and Cypress avenues.

The T. J. S. held a regular meeting at the home of Ellwood Gamwell, on Thursday evening, January 26th. After routine business they discussed the good things of life in the dining room, and the rest of the evening was spent in song and amusements.

Several of our citizens are changing their residences, William Coffee is moving from East McKinley to one of the new houses on West Ogontz avenue, George Palmer is moving from Woodland avenue to East McKinley. Samuel Washington from the Goforth estate to East McKinley.

The placing of cinders on some of our streets is bringing them into good shape, and the strip connecting Ogontz avenue with Elkins Park is a decided improvement. Cement walks through our village would be a bonanza to our town, and as they are already extended to Ogontz would be a boon to the scores of pedestrians who have to travel to the city every day. It would also have the effect of inviting the building of homes and employment of our mechanics. This section is the only place between Philadelphia and Willow Grove where persons of moderate means can permanently establish their residences. There is ample room for several hundred homes within the reach of the ordinary man's income.

GRENOBLE.

Albert Spencer disposed of two cows to a dealer on Monday.

Robert Saler, Frank Scott and A. L. Spencer were visitors at Lahaska, on Tuesday.

Miss Ruth Spencer and Mrs. Walter Spencer were the guests of Mrs. Nellie Siddall, Pineville, on Wednesday.

Harry Walton will sell out his personal property, including his household goods, some time in the near future and expects to go to Philadelphia to live. Frank, his son, who recently bought the farm, will take possession about March first.

John C. Borse, of Kulpsville, who has been critically ill for some time, has occupied the office of Justice of the Peace for nearly 40 years, and during that period did a great deal of surveying. He is nearly 80 years of age.

A man's faith in women gradually disappears with his front hair.

BARN BURNED.

Four horses and six cows were rescued when fire was discovered in the three-story frame and stone barn at Ogontz avenue and Washington lane, Pittville, last Saturday night.

Great difficulty was experienced by the firemen in fighting the flames. The fire was extinguished with a loss of $5000. The barn is owned by the Provident Life and Trust Company.

WYNDMOOR

Mrs. Elizabeth Lees, who has been seriously ill, is much better.

Lee Zeigler spent the beginning of the week with Roy French on his farm near Norristown.

The ladies of the church are very busy earning a dollar for a $1 social they are going to hold this month.

Laura Swartley was given a birthday surprise by her parents on Saturday afternoon. Twenty-two little girls were present.

Miss Adeline Larzelere and Willis Kelly, West Chester State Normal students, spent Saturday and Sunday at their respective homes.

The trustees of the Pleasantville Reformed church will hold a meeting at the home of B. Frank Hartzell, Chalfont, on next Tuesday evening, to make arrangements for the building of additional sheds on the church property.

One thousand dollars was recently offered for a fine team of horses owned by the Wissahickon fire company, of Ambler.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

FARMS AS BIG AS WHOLE STATES

Men Who Own Million Acre Tracts in This Country—South and West Contain Many Vast Estates—Carloads of Cotton, Wheat, Alfalfa, and Cattle—Several Farmers Own Steam Railroads that Handle the Products of their Broad Acres.

There are a number of American farmers, who manage tracts of over one million acres.

One of these American land barons, E. S. Marshall, is the owner of an estate in the great Southwest which contains no less than 4,000,000 acres.

Mr. Marshall's landed domain is in two ranches of 2,000,000 acres each. One of them stands 170 miles along the international boundary line west of El Paso, Texas.

The other two-million-acre tract borders the Grand Canyon on the south and east. Most of this land was formerly a part of the United States forest reserve, and it has been so developed by irrigation that it has become one of the most valuable cattle ranges in America, and a considerable portion of it is also available for tillage. At present Mr. Marshall is not engaged in intensive farming on either of his estates. This vast area whose proper cultivation might sustain the population of a State is the feeding ground of a herd of 100,000 cattle, a variety of farming that appeals strongly to its proprietor despite all Secretary Wilson's efforts to make intensive farming popular.

Mr. Marshall was born poor. His first venture was a three-thousand-acre ranch in Texas which was "almost concealed from view by mortgages." Mr. Marshall declares that it was his effort to clear off the incumbrances on this property that taught him how to combine cattle, land and banking so as to make the operation profitable. At any rate, he borrowed the money to buy the cattle which finally paid for the land. The outcome was so satisfactory that he continued the practice until he became the greatest landed proprietor in America, perhaps in the world. Banking, cattle and land is still his winning combination.

In his lifetime the elder John V. Farwell, the famous Chicago merchant, who founded the fortunes of the family of that name, was the sole proprietor of a ranch of 3,000,000 acres in the most productive district of Texas. This land was acquired by the original owner as payment to the State for work done on public buildings, especially on the State Capitol at Austin. Ex-Senator Thomas W. Palmer, of Michigan, inherited an immense tract of land obtained by his father in the same manner, an estate which became of great value in the course of time. The original Farwell grant has been reduced to 800,000 acres, which the present owner, Walter Farwell, has brought into a state of high cultivation. Mr. Farwell is what is popularly known as a back farmer, theoretical first and practical afterward. Contrary to the experience of some of those who have applied this method to agriculture, Mr. Farwell has made a brilliant success of his experiment. The Farwell-Mrs. Farwell is the daughter of Mrs. Stephen A. Douglas by an earlier marriage—occupy the big ranch house at Channing during the summer and spend the winters in England.

Another Texas farmer whose land holdings are enormous is Colonel W. B. Worsham, of Henrietta. The Colonel is the owner of a single farm of 40,000 acres and is also the proprietor of vast cattle ranges in the western part of the State. Like Marshall he has become a multi-millionaire from banking, brewing, oil refining and a dozen other industrial ventures and has invested his overplus in lands. Colonel Worsham has been the builder of his own fortune, having begun life as a cowboy and worked his way by sheer dint of energy and native shrewdness.

The estate known as Cordo Blanco, in the fertile Texas Panhandle, is one of the most extensive stretches of farm land under individual ownership and management in America. It is the property of W. Tom Waggoner, and its area of its extent may be gathered from the fact that recently its proprietor presented each of his three children with a slice of it as large as the State of Rhode Island. Nor does it appear that he robbed himself in the process, for he admits that he has left for his own use "a garden patch with an estimated area of 1000 square miles."

There is at least one million-acre farmer in the new State of New Mexico—the last territorial Governor, William J. Mills, whose wife, daughter of the late Wilson Waddingham, of West Haven, Conn., inherited from her father intact the big Spanish land grant known as Pablo Montoya. Originally, this famous tract embraced several millions of acres, but since it came under the supervision of Mr. Mills it has been divided into several ranches, one of which, the Bell ranch, is under the personal oversight of the Governor. Next to Mrs. King, the proprietor of the Bell ranch is the owner of the biggest and finest collection of blooded cattle in the country. His herd of registered shorthorns has the run of a range of 715,000 acres, all fenced, and a patrol of cowboy fence riders is employed to guard the stock.

Another notable member of the American landed aristocracy is General H. G. Otis, who, in addition to conducting a newspaper in Los Angeles, is engaged in farming on a large scale in the Cocopaw Indian country, in the delta of the Colorado River. The General is proprietor of a landed estate of upward of a million acres, which he intends to convert into the biggest cotton plantation in the world. In developing his mammoth farm he has succeeded in solving the labor problem by employing large numbers of the native Cocopaws, and has found them satisfactory in every way. At present the General's main crop is alfalfa, to the culture of which he has devoted an acreage greater than that of any other farmer in the world. The alfalfa crop is fed on the premises to one of the biggest herds in the country, and both tilling the soil and caring for the cattle are carried on exclusively by the Indians.

General Otis's farm is part of the "wonder region" of the Colorado basin. It is located in the centre of the spouting mud geyser district, and contains many of those famous natural curiosities which resemble nothing so closely as small volcanoes with an output of boiling mud instead of ashes and lava.

No other spot in the United States has a record of higher temperature than is registered during long stretches in this fertile bottom land, but the productiveness of the soil, after it is made available by irrigation, is almost beyond belief.

Altogether, it is a part of the national domain unlike any other spot in America. The native Cocopaws bear small resemblance to the accepted Indian type—they are as dusky as Moors, as muscular as trained athletes and as amiable as Eskimos. One of the men of the tribe, employed by General Otis, is a giant weighing more than 500 pounds.

Colonel James M. Smith, of Smithsonia, Ga., tills 22,000 acres, and makes use of a private steam railroad to haul his crops to the shipping point. He practices crop rotation after the most approved fashion. Besides marketing $127,000 worth of cotton the past season, he harvested 12,000 bushels of wheat, 15,000 bushels of oats, 23,000 bushels of corn, 10,000 bushels of turnips, 6000 bushels of cowpeas and shipped 20,000 pounds of butter. The farm at Smithsonia is a model in its way, an example of intensive farming carried on after the most scientific method. The estate has 600 neat dwellings for the farm hands, and over a thousand mules and horses supplement the work of the steam and electric labor saving equipment. "Land is becoming too valuable to be treated in a slipshod manner," Colonel Smith declares. "My advice to the young is never to be afraid of becoming too intelligent to follow farming as a life business.

At Chugwater, Wyo., at an altitude of 7500 feet, is the Swan ranch, containing 280,000 acres. Congressman Asle J. Cronna, of North Dakota, is reputed to be the premier individual wheat farmer of America. There are a number of co-operative growers of wheat whose acreage exceeds that of Mr. Cronna's wheatfield, but thus far his 8000 acres have made the best showing. Another highly cultivated Georgia farm is at Danville, 12,000 acres owned and operated by Colonel Hughes. The Funk farm, at Bloomington, Ill., contains 40,000 acres, and the Wadsworths, famous in history and politics, are proprietors of a tenant system embracing 70 model farms in the best part of Livingston County, N. Y. The Reddick brothers, of Columbus, Ind., cultivate 29,000 acres in the Mississippi bottoms, and the famous Rankin farms, which centre around Tarkio, Mo., constitute an estate amounting to 23,000 acres.

TIMELY TOPICS OF PLANTS AND PESTS DISCUSSED WEEKLY

By H. A. Surface, State Zoologist

In the southeastern section of the State where the deadly San Jose scale has worked greater damage probably than elsewhere within the boundaries of this Commonwealth, destroying entire orchards so that farms are now without fruit trees of any kind, the owner of one of these treeless homes in Bucks county has decided to again plant an orchard, and writes to Prof. H. A. Surface, State Zoologist, for a list of the best varieties to plant in that county. The following reply was sent him:

"Replying to your letter making inquiry as to the ten best varieties of autumn and winter apples for home use in your region, I would recommend the following: Smokehouse, Grimes Golden, Jonathan, Rome Beauty, Bonum, Mother, Lady's Sweeting, Pound, York Imperial and Stayman's Winesap. The last one is the very best in quality, while the next to last is the poorest in quality in this list, but is the best keeper and one of the best bearers, and is one of our most profitable commercial apples of Southern and Southeastern Pennsylvania.

"In addition to this list of fall and winter apples, it appears that a person should plant the following for summer use in the home orchard. Among these should be: Yellow Transparent, Early Ripe, Red Astrachan, Sweet Bough, Wealthy, Malden Blush, Summer Rambo and Duchess.

"To your fall list you could also well add the Fall or Winter Rambo. I should select those that ripen in succession from the earliest to latest, and plant about half as many varieties as are here given. Of course, if you have a fair local market, where you can sell the surplus in retail quantity to good advantage, it is a good plan to plant all these varieties. You have a change for home use, and some are liable to bear when others do not. I certainly do not recommend the planting of many trees of several kinds; just a few trees of each kind are sufficient for home use. On the other hand, if planting for commercial purposes, I strongly recommend the planting of many trees of each of a very few kinds."

The following letter from Prof. Surface, Economic Zoologist, of the State Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg to an inquirer from the western part of the State, who writes for information on how to rid his cornfields of wireworms, may be found instructive to others troubled with this pest:

"Concerning wireworms in your corn, I must say that I am satisfied that you can not put anything in the soil that is strong enough to kill the wireworm, or even drive it away without damage to the soil and the corn. The best thing to do is to get ready for these pests by plowing the land in the fall. Perhaps plowing in the early spring and cultivating several times with a spring-toothed harrow would help greatly to reduce them. If you can follow the sod with some crop like potatoes, which, as you have observed, they do not so severely injure, it might be well to do so. Then immediately after the potatoes sow rye, doing this as early as possible in the fall, and turn the rye down in the spring, and follow this with corn.

"The treatment of the wireworm must be one of agricultural methods rather than the direct application of insecticides. It is there owing to the fact that it breeds in the roots of the plants in a sod field, and when these are destroyed by turning with a plow, the pests simply transfers its attention to the corn roots as these are the only growing plants offering available food.

"Where sod is turned for corn, there are liable to be several insects in the soil that will do damage. Cut worms are often bad in such places. These can be killed by mixing one part of paris green with about fifty parts of bran or shorts, and moistening with water to which a little strong molasses has been added. A very small pinch of this dropped along in the corn row immediately after the corn comes up, or about the time it is sprouting, will serve to destroy thousands of cut worms.

"One of our progressive Lancaster county farmers destroyed the cutworms in his newly planted sod field by sowing the corn broadcast over the field under our directions. The crops of other fields surrounding him were badly injured, but his was fine, and paid well for the slight expense and trouble."

FARMERS' INSTITUTES.

The dates of Farmers' Institutes in Bucks county are as follows: Pineville, on February 8 and 9, Plumsteadville, on February 10 and 11, Doylestown, on February 13 and 14, Richboro, on February 15 and 16, Richlandtown, on February 17 and 18. A number of instructors from other parts of the State will be present to join with the farmers of the locality in the discussion of topics relative to agriculture. These meetings are free and open to all, and we have no doubt the farmers of this county will avail themselves of the advantages to be gained by attending these meetings.

BUSY THIEVES.

Thieves have been busy along the North Penn branch of the Reading Railway for the past few days. Thursday night they robbed two houses in Lansdale and the post office at Hatfield.

At the houses, which belonged to Mrs. Elizabeth Gallagher and William G. Gazell, the intruders secured silverware and money amounting to nearly $200. At the post office the robbers were not so fortunate, getting only $5.50 in money and stamps and a watch.

DO NOT WANT SALOON

Cheltenham Village People Oppose Granting Liquor License.

Cheltenham village, of about 1200 population, in Cheltenham township, east of Ogontz and Elkins Park, is opposing the establishment of a hotel. Petitions are to be presented to the Montgomery county license courts, asking that no license be granted. It is understood that John Megerl, a former Philadelphian, will ask for a license, and scores of the men and women of the suburb have identified themselves with the fight.

Lawrence A. Dempsey, of the board of commissioners, says that the majority is against the hotel.

The Rev. Bartram Shay, pastor of the Cheltenham Methodist Episcopal church, said that his church would supply no fewer than seventy-five signers to the remonstrance.

Cured Splint

"I have used Sloan's Liniment on a fine mare for splint and cured her. This makes the third horse I've cured. Have recommended it to my neighbors for thrush and they say it is fine. I find it the best Liniment I ever used. I keep on hand your Sure Colic Cure for myself and neighbors, and I can certainly recommend it for Colic."—S. E. SMITH, McDonough, Ga.

Cured Thrush.

MR. R. W. PARISH, of Bristol, Ind., R. No. 2, writes:—"I have used lots of your Liniment for horses and myself. It is the best Liniment in the world. I cured one of my horses of thrush. Her feet were rotten; the frogs came out; she laid down most of the time. I thought she would die, but I used the Liniment as directed and she never lies down in the daytime now."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

ROSLYN

Clarence G. Reynolds, of Boston, is spending a few days here.

Matthew and Jesse Hutmaker are the latest additions to St. Paul's Sunday school.

Trolley conductors are calling out Roslyn these days, and when anyone asks for Hillside, they say "its up the Pike."

Miss Elizabeth Hardy, of Overbrook, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Eells, of West Philadelphia, were guests on Sunday at "Pennview."

A public spirited citizen favors better sidewalks and is willing to spend his good money to provide the same along the roads he uses most.

We note with pleasure that Willow Grove, Hatboro and Ivyland are bursting with civic pride. May their efforts be crowned with success.

Electrical fixtures are being installed in the residence of Torris Thomsen, and current will be turned on as soon as poles on Bradfield avenue are erected.

The election of officers of St. Paul's Christian Endeavor Society was postponed until Saturday evening, February 4th. Every member is urged to be present. Strangers will be welcomed.

The improvements to the chapel have been completed. A new cement walk and platform add to the charm of the little building, while the electric lights throughout bring it almost up to perfection.

The February meeting of the Roslyn Improvement and Protective Association will be held next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Nominations for officers will be made. It is requested that every member make a special effort to be present.

A box party was given last Monday evening at the Forrest theatre, in honor of Miss Hardy, whose engagement to Frederic H. Lovejoy was recently announced. The party included Miss Hardy, Miss Lovejoy and Miss Metivier, of Waltham, Mass., and Messrs. Frederic H. Lovejoy, Henry Van Keuren and James O. Oliver, of Rochester, N. Y.

Several months ago the Ladies' Home Journal offered prizes for contributions to their Ministers Social Helpers column. Miss Marion Stout responded with an account of her ice cream committee last summer, and during the past week was rewarded for her efforts by receiving a letter from the Curtis Publishing Co. enclosing a remittance that will be spent on new books for the Sunday school library.

The preaching services at St. Paul's chapel last Sunday evening were well attended and we earnestly hope the interest taken by our folks may be continued. Mrs. Howard Reynolds sang a beautiful solo, accompanied by Mr. Reynolds and the sermon by Dr. H. S. Cook, was very instructive. Sunday, February 5th, will be celebrated as Christian Endeavor day, in honor of the 30th anniversary of this world wide society. Services will begin promptly at 7.45 p. m. and all are welcome.

SOMERTON

M. S. Ervin, of Camden, was a visitor here on Sunday last.

Miss Grace Houseman spent a few days this week with relatives here.

A. C. Root of Tioga, spent Sunday last with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lingerman.

The Women's Club will hold a meeting to-day, Saturday afternoon, in Ervin's Hall.

Mrs. George Lyons, of Hatboro, spent a few days this week with relatives here.

The Dickens Club met at the home of Mrs. E. T. Watson on Wednesday evening of this week.

The pertinent question in the Somerton Camp, P. O. S. of A., is "Have you become a Pilgrim?"

Mr. Harvey is convalescing after his recent illness, which confined him to the bed for several weeks.

It is a gratification for the many friends of Harry Lingerman to learn that he is improving from his severe attack of pneumonia.

A large fence to prevent snow from blowing on the switch has been erected by the railroad, westward from the crossing of the Bustleton pike.

The impersonations and humorous readings by Helen Mae Wilson, assisted by local talent, will be held this Saturday evening in Ervin's hall.

TROTTERS SOLD.

James T. Florey, who has his training stables at Centre Square, sold five of his string Tuesday at Madison Square Garden, New York City. Our King, with a record of 2.15¼ was purchased by Fred Banham, secretary of the Norristown Driving Club, for $250. Other horses disposed of by Florey were Leeland, $360; Kearney, $400; Olga, $360, and Dolly Sparks, $280.

Arthur Long, son of Lewis Long, near Grenoble, has purchased a house and barn and 8 or 10 acres of land of Joseph Coates, near Wyncombe, and will move thereto in the near future.

Emidio Rangiafer, age unknown, an Italian who boarded at Cornwells, was instantly killed, Tuesday morning while at work on the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He stepped before a rapidly moving train.

Robbers recently paid the W. C. Wunder place, at Penllyn, a visit, as was ascertained last Saturday when the family came out from Philadelphia and found the house pretty generally ransacked.

A meeting of the teachers' association, of Springfield township, was held in Flourtown public school building on Monday afternoon. Questions of importance to the school were discussed. Prof. H. A. Markley, of Marcus Hook, gave a talk on the value of the Ross blocks in teaching mensuration.

Glenside and Edge Hill

Matthew Thompson, of Germantown, spent Sunday last with friends in Glenside.

The Jamison property on Fairhill avenue, near Roberts avenue has been rented.

Christian Endeavor day will be observed at Carmel church on Sunday evening.

Mrs. Joseph Goldkamp entertained her sister from New York during the past week.

Miss Alice Mackey, of Germantown, was the guest of Rev. Joseph B. C. and Mrs. Mackie, on Sunday last.

M. E. Hauser is having his property on the corner of Waverly road and Harrison avenue, underdrained.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dixon, of Bickley avenue, spent Thursday as the guest of friends in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Harry S. Aiman, of Lismore avenue, entertained friends from Wyndmoor, on Tuesday of this week.

Max Oberholtzer broke ground for a new house to be built on his lot on Harrison avenue near Waverly road.

Rev. Joseph B. C. Mackie will deliver his third of a series of sermons on the Lord's Prayer on Sunday morning.

Miss Eleanor Papst, of Darby, has been spending the week as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Smith, of Mt. Carmel avenue.

William H. Fry has had the shrubbery and trees on his property trimmed, which adds very much to the attractiveness of his place.

The Glenside Baptist church has extended a call to the Rev. P. B. Moyer, of Roxboro. Mr. Moyer is now pastor of the Moyer Memorial Baptist church at that place.

Harry S. Aiman has taken title to his property recently purchased at Horsham. Mr. Aiman will move from Glenside about the first of March and farm the place he bought.

The furnishing store at the corner of Mt. Carmel avenue and Willow Grove pike will open up on February 17th. This is in the building lately occupied by William L. Raiser.

Creditors have filed a petition to have Daniel W. Sperry, of Glenside, adjudged an involuntary bankrupt. These are the creditors and the amounts claimed: Arnold Aiman, $422; Frank G. Justice, $470.30; J. M. Laning, $750.

Rev. Walter H. Waygood, of Baltimore, was the guest of J. Benton Hoover and family, of Mt. Carmel avenue, on Monday evening. Mr. Waygood was formerly pastor of the Lafayette Presbyterian church, of Baltimore, but resigned that charge a short time ago, after a two years pastorate.

E. N. Luddy, one of Glenside's plumbers went off on a vacation last week and when he returned on Wednesday of this week quite a few were surprised to learn that he had been married to Miss Carolyne Glibert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gilbert, of Willow Grove avenue, Edge Hill. We are glad to extend our congratulations to the happy couple.

A Philadelphia paper had an article on Tuesday evening which referred to a man by the name of George Gray having been arrested in Camden, and who was formerly a superintendent of a Sunday school in Glenside. After inquiry around we failed to find any one by that name ever having acted in that capacity in any of Glenside's Sunday schools. The man lived at Rosemont on the Pennsylvania railroad, we have since learned.

JAMISON

William Conard and William Smith are on the sick list.

Miss Mae Trexler visited friends in Fountainville on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mayer entertained guests on Sunday.

Miss Minnie Weaver spent Sunday with her parents at Erwinna.

A. O. Myers, who has been quite ill the past week, is improving slowly.

John Edwards, of Hatboro, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Duddridge.

Edward Crouthamel of Philadelphia, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Myers.

Norman and Ruth VanArtsdalen were visiting relatives and friends in Philadelphia last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lewis, of Aquetong, were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Myers.

Mrs. Alfred Wilson, of Newtown, is spending this week with her daughter, Mrs. Walton Worthington.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel G. Rutherford, of Jamison, have issued invitations for this Saturday evening, for a 500 party.

Mr. and Mrs. William Crouthamel and son, Andrew, of Doylestown, spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Dudbridge and grand-daughter, Elizabeth Jones, visited relatives in Tradesville, one day this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Holbert attended a card party given by Mr. and Mrs. Amos Bennett at Forest Grove, on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank VanArtsdalen visited in Philadelphia this week. They spent a day with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel VanArtsdalen, at Bala.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bartlett, of Grenoble, very delightfully entertained about 35 of their friends on Friday, January 27, at a six o'clock dinner.

Samuel Yates, who has been ill about a week with grip died on Tuesday evening about nine o'clock. The funeral will be held this Saturday morning, with interment at Horsham.

Little Walter, son of Russel G. and Cora V. Rutherford, is the possessor of eight grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rutherford, of Jamison, Mr. and Mrs. Milton T. VanArtsdalen, of Richboro, Mr. and Mrs. Yates, of Jamison, Mrs. T. M. Vanartsdalen, of Oak Lane, Philadelphia, and Andrew Rutherford, of Jamison. The last four named are great grandparents. John W. Tomlinson, of Bethayres, a great grandfather, died less than a year ago, at the age of 82.

THANKS FROM MAE.

Dear Editor:—

I wish to thank through the columns of your paper, my many friends who so kindly remembered me on my thirteenth birthday. I received forty post cards and fifty-two handkerchiefs.

Yours truly,
CLARA MAE CORNELL,
Age 13 years, Holland Post Office,
Bucks County, Pa.

WILL BE ORDAINED.

The Right Reverend Lemuel Henry Wells, D. D., Bishop of Spokane, will ordain to the Diaconate Paul Sturtevant Howe on Sunday morning next, at 10.30 o'clock. Bishop Wells acts in place of Bishop Whitaker, who is ill. Mr. Howe was for some time a professor in Ursinus College and until recently headmaster of the Jenkintown high school. Mr. Howe's connection with the Church of St. Simeon, Lehigh avenue and Ninth street, Philadelphia, in which he is to be ordained, began in the early part of January.

BUSTLETON

John Lodge is seriously ill.

Mrs. Howard Brown has been on the sick list.

Goodman Nichols' new houses are about completed.

Many people attended the theatre in Philadelphia last week.

Charles A. Spooner moved to Philadelphia on Monday.

Many pupils of Fayette school were graduated on Tuesday.

CHELTENHAM

SALOON NOT WANTED.

Rev. Robert Adams, of Melrose Park, secretary of Central Branch Y. M. C. A., and a member of the Anti-Saloon League, gave a very interesting talk at the morning service in the M. E. church on Sunday. He spoke of the good being done by the league and also gave out some very valuable points as to why a saloon was not beneficial to any community.

His remarks found lodgement in the minds of all his hearers, as the town at this time is being canvassed for signers to a petition to secure a license here. After the conclusion of the service a large number signed the remonstrance against the saloon, and Rev. Shay announced that a combined meeting of the churches would be held in the fire house on Friday evening, February 3, 1911, and plans formed for aggressive action, on the part of the pulpit and public in general. This is not a matter for the attention of the church goers alone, but it concerns the property owners, the fathers and mothers and every resident in our village, and we hope the movement will receive the united support of all the thinking people of our community. This place has always been without a saloon, and we cannot see why it is necessary or in what way the town would be benefitted thereby. Mr. Adams has volunteered personal aid, and we hope some decisive move will be made immediately. The petition calls for a license at the corner of Elm and Beecher streets, which was formerly the Cuckle property. Mr. Megerle is the present owner of the property, having bought same from the Cuckle estate, and is also the man applying for the license. He was a saloon keeper formerly in Philadelphia.

Mrs. James Caldwell has been on the sick list during the past week.

Howard VanSant, of Feasterville, was a visitor at Harold Stout's on Sunday.

Miss Mary Conroy visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hulshizer, on Tuesday.

John Steib has been on the sick list for the last two weeks. Mr. Steib has been an employe at the Haines nurseries for a long time.

Mrs. Wesley Holden, of Felton, Delaware, spent a few days during the week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sbull, at their home on Reyers avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Reiff, who have resided on the Durschsprung property on Franklin street, moved their household effects into the city on Tuesday, where they will reside in the future.

About thirty-five members of the Ladies' Circle and of the M. E. church enjoyed the entertainment given by Mr. and Mrs. John Rice, at their home on Beecher avenue, on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McQuilken attended the wedding of Mrs. McQuilken's neice, Miss Lillie Morrison, of Holmesburg, to Bruce Bowers, of Five Points, on Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's father, Dr. Morrison, at Holmesburg.

James McKelvey, who has been farming a place on Oxford pike, above Trinity church, has rented the Linford Rowland farm, and will take possession about April 1st. Walter Krier has farmed the same place for a number of years and will vacate about April 1st.

Frank Perkins, on Friday, January 27, underwent a successful operation for appendicitis, and we are pleased to state that he is getting along very well, with expectations of a speedy and complete recovery. The operation was performed by Dr. Schwartz, a surgeon from Philadelphia, at the home of Mr. Perkins, on Township line.

There are many residents in our village that will be highly pleased if the post office is changed from its present location. It is situated at one of the most dangerous corners in the village at all times, and when the streets are muddy, as they often are, it would be hard indeed to find a more disagreeable place of access, and might be termed the worst "mud hole" in the town. These two facts seem to warrant a change of location, and we feel sure that the new postmaster, Mr. Fisher, is seriously considering the difficulties and will endeavor to remedy them.

There is likely to be a new industry for the manufacture of automobiles located in Lansdale the coming season.

Important Point

One of the most important points to be considered in the selection of your bank is

ITS ABILITY TO SERVE YOU

THE HATBORO NATIONAL BANK bases its claim to your account and business upon, not only its ability to serve its customers, but upon its willingness to do go.

Without charge we collect your checks and drafts, issue to you New York or Philadelphia drafts, payable anywhere. We keep your money on deposit safely, pay you THREE PER CENT INTEREST, if funds are allowed to stand upon certificate, and pay money out instantly upon your order without quibble or red tape.

We will keep your valuable papers, such as insurance policies, bonds, mortgages, notes, etc., safe from fire, thieves or other loss, in a private box for a small annual rent fee.

We will loan you money upon satisfactory security.

And above all we remind you that carrying an account in an old established, carefully managed, home bank is notice to the world at large that you are a person of standing in your own community.

At your service always.
